UN GIVES ULTIMATUM TO KATANGA LEADER

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—The United Nations demanded today that Katanga permit UN troops free movement within the secessionist province and lift the Katangese blockade of UN supply trains from Southern Rhodesia.

Some quarters said the demand, made in a letter to Katanga President Moise Tshombe, was a virtual ultimatum, threatening sanctions against the wealthy province by UN members if Tshombe failed to comply.

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Cloudy and damp weather, the kind that plagued Prince Edward Island farmers this year, greeted voters in the island province this morning.

Market Talks

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—Edward Heath, Britain's chief European Common Market negotiator, today began a crucial three-day meeting with market ministers who were reported to have decided to stand firm on their attitude to British agriculture.

German Lawyer Free

BONN, West Germany (AP)—Lawyer Josef Augstein, brother of Der Spiegel publisher Rudolf Augstein, was released from custody today, the weekly magazine's Bonn office reported.

Augstein was arrested last Tuesday on a warrant alleging he helped persuade a defense ministry colonel to reveal state secrets to his brother's news magazine, Der Spiegel.

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union offered today to install three "internationally" operated robot devices on Soviet territory to police a ban on underground nuclear tests.

Western spokesmen said the offer of three "black boxes" was totally inadequate. Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference the Soviet Union would permit international inspectors to service the devices and remove the automatically-recorded tapes of earth tremors.

The Soviet offer was first put forward—apparently by mistake—in a press conference given Friday by Soviet spokesman Alexei Roshchin. Roshchin told reporters, Tsarapkin had made the offer and then denied it. All spokesmen agreed that the Soviet delegate finally made the firm offer at today's two-hour conference session.

The Western powers maintain the black boxes can serve only as an auxiliary detection method and can never fully replace manned control-posts and on-site inspections. Western officials said Tsarapkin's offer of one monitor in each of the Soviet Union's three main earthquake regions was completely inadequate even as an auxiliary system. The West believes at least 100 would be necessary inside the Soviet Union.

CRACKDOWN ON REBELS

U.K. Troops Take Airstrip

(CP from Reuters-AP)

BRUNEI TOWN, Brunei—British troops recaptured the airstrip at rebel-held Seria today and advanced on the oil town where some 400 Europeans were reported held prisoner by the rebels.

Brig. J. B. A. Glennie, commander of the British force in the British-protected sultanate of Brunei, said the situation was "looking very much better now" although 400 Europeans were prisoners in Seria.

Glennie also said a crackdown on the homes of members of the outlawed rebel Rayaat party has begun here. He said several arrests have been made.

"We have taken a good deal of incriminating evidence," Glennie said.

The Anduki airfield at Seria was in rebel hands for three days until it was recaptured by 200 British Queen's Own Highlanders who landed on a nearby golf course.

Later a further 600 Highlanders landed on air-strip, which was reported firmly in

But this is the address from which several millions of dollars worth of help have been sent out to all parts of the world since 1945.

This is the head office of the Unitarian Service Committee, the organization which The Times helps support with its "Friendship Dollars for India" appeal.

The USC offices are poky and old fashioned. They are overcrowded. Most of the equipment is on loan and all of it is second-hand. Most of the workers are volunteers.

The shoe-string operation in these two dusty rooms explains why almost every cent of the money donated to The Times appeal actually goes to India and is not used for administrative expenses.

So far this year, the people of Vancouver Island have donated $5,123 to the appeal.

But even though the USC can stretch this sum to do an incredible amount of relief work in India, a lot more is still required.

Anyone who wants to help should send their donation to "Friendship Dollars for India," c/o The Times, 2531 Douglas. Subscriptions to the appeal also may be left at the Bank of Montreal, Yates and Douglas.

All amounts will be acknowledged in the news columns of The Times. An official receipt for income tax purposes will be sent later by the USC.

Nehru Rejects Chinese Terms

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today Red China's cease-fire and withdrawal manoeuvre may be only a trick and warned his front-line troops that fighting might flare up again in the Himalayas.

The Indian leader delivered his warning in a radio address after rejecting Peking's terms for settlement of the border conflict.

Nehru offered in parliament to refer the frontier dispute to the International Court of Justice if China withdraws from Indian territory.

Later he made his radio address to Indian soldiers telling them to be prepared for a long struggle.

Nehru told Parliament India continues to demand that the Chinese withdraw to the positions held Sept. 8. China has called this "utterly unacceptable."

Nehru warned "this war may last five years or more but I feel confident we shall win."

He called on the Indian people for "determination to refuse to bow down to the imperialist tactics of China whatever happens." He said the survival of Indian freedom is at stake.

Nehru also had words for the six non-aligned nations meeting in Ceylon in a search of a solution to the India-China conflict.

"I trust they will remember there can be no compromise with expanding militarism," he said.

RENEW FIGHTING?

Nehru's rejection of the Chinese demands raised a strong possibility of renewed fighting.

Nehru was cheered when he said India "has been forced to the conclusion the words of the Chinese government cannot be relied upon."

The prime minister said the last five years have shown that the Chinese change their interpretation of the border with circumstances.

In Colombo, meanwhile, Ghana proposed to the six-nation conference that India and Red China negotiate an "area of disengagement" for cease-fire purposes and then work out a border settlement.

The Ghana delegate said if the two countries could not agree, the six non-aligned countries should arrange the disengagement and then make recommendations for a border settlement.

RETROACTIVE

Federal Pay Hike Approved

OTTAWA (CP)—Retroactive pay increases for some 65,000 federal civil servants were announced today by Finance Minister Nowlan.

The increases, expected to cost the public treasury $30,000,000, affect clerical, administrative, accounting, professional supporting groups, hospital, penitentiary and police employees.

They will be retroactive to Oct. 1, 1961, for clerical and administrative employees. Raises had been recommended at that time by the government's pay research bureau but were delayed under the government's wage freezes.

Raises for hospital employees will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1962, and for penitentiary and police employees to April 1, 1962.

COLLECT DATA

Mr. Nowlan said the pay research bureau has started collecting data relating to salaries in the group of public servants comprising postal, customs and immigration employees. Changes recommended for them would be effective Oct. 1, 1962.

The raises announced today would be put into effect as soon as the paying authorities can make the necessary arrangements.

In addition to the regular civil servants in the three groups for which retroactive increases were announced, Mr. Nowlan said in a Commons statement, employees paid at hourly wage rates prevailing in their areas of work will get wage adjustments effective from the dates recommended by the labor department in each case.

A BORE, SAYS U.K. PAPER

Dief Annoys Mac By 'Horning In'

LONDON (CP)—The Sunday newspaper The People carries a report saying Prime Minister Macmillan is "irritated" by Canadian Prime Minister Diefenbaker's move in "inviting himself" to the British leader's Bahamas conference with U.S. President Kennedy later this month.

An anonymous column written under the name Cyprien says Macmillan "seldom shows petulance" but his "distaste for bores explains his little outburst of irritation last week."

"He made little attempt to conceal his annoyance over the manner in which Mr. Diefenbaker...equivocal—at the last minute—to get a place in the coming Bahamas talks."

The report says that although it is customary for Canadian prime ministers to get a hearing when British prime ministers talk to American presidents "enquiries among the prime minister's entourage confirmed that this omission was no mere oversight."

"Mr. Macmillan bears no ill-will towards Mr. Diefenbaker for his anti-Common Market speech at the Commonwealth conference in September. But Mr. Diefenbaker's conversation does weary Mr. Macmillan."

Although the official announcement says it is traditional for Canadian prime ministers to be invited, the report concludes, "it did not point out that Mr. Diefenbaker had been left to invite himself."

Municipal taxes were passed today by the city council and will become law as soon as the bylaws defining the methods in which they are to be collected have been drawn up and passed.

The auction sale of Messrs. Quarles & Co.'s large stock of jewelry was very well attended yesterday and the auctioneer, Mr. Welch, said today the bidding will continue tomorrow. He said the articles will still be put up singly or in small lots to suit private purchasers.

The steamer Union put into Cedar Hill Bay last night due to the squally appearance of the weather, it was reported today.

The government road to the district of Metehosin has been accomplished with satisfying results. A good bridge path now exists the whole way and a wagon can be driven without experiencing any difficulty as far as Mr. Weir's house.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Gerry Wellburn, veteran logging manager and owner of a narrow-gauge railroad in his own backyard near Duncan, has discovered that being "written up" in a national magazine brings new and old friends to his door.

Story entitled "Grandpa's Private Railroad" appeared in Weekend Magazine Nov. 10, and almost immediately Gerry's mail increased as friends from far and near wrote to remind him of visits they had made to the Wellburn home and rides they had taken on the railway.

Letters were postmarked from such places as Great Slave Lake, Montreal, Edmonton, Toronto and Hamilton, as well as from smaller centres across Canada.

A dinner harking back 35 years to the heyday of the Hustlers Club is planned tentatively for January.

The club is fondly recalled by two of its members, Ken Rawnsley and Al Goodwin, who have contacted 19 others and would like to hear from the following 15 and any more whose names may have been missed:

Ray Johns, Ken Bates, Gordon Dixon, Barney Burns, Frank Kennedy, Ray Jones, Ed Cliff, Don McMillan, Bill Black, Lloyd Keith, Les Jeeves, Frank Deville, Ray Matthews, Reg Holt and Vic Critchley.

The young men's group was formed at Centennial United Church with Rev. Clem Davies as mentor, and among its activities were entertainments and fund-raising for other church organizations.

Contact may be made through Goodwin at CKDA.

A woman reader called The Times recently and inquired: "Do you put divorce notices in the paper automatically, or will I have to pay as if I were putting in an advertisement?"

There is, of course, no charge. Divorces are recorded (but not automatically) by a Times reporter at Victoria Courthouse.

Celebrating his 80th birthday Saturday was Tom Dalzell, 5991 West Saanich Road, who is probably the only surviving member of the original crew of Canada's first naval ship.

He signed up as "spark" aboard HGS Lillooet in 1910 when the vessel took over from a British naval ship the task of surveying the coast of British Columbia.

The sea was not for him, and on Nov. 21, 1911, he received his discharge from the Department of Naval Service. His papers were signed by Cdr. P. H. Musgrave.

Son of the owner of one of the largest shipchandler's firms in Liverpool, Burnyeat & Dalzell, Tom came to Victoria in 1907 after the death of his father.

He is a former B.C. long-distance champion swimmer, and a former president of Victoria YMCA swimming and life saving club, which is affiliated to the Royal Life Saving Society in London, England. From the latter society he received a bronze medal.

He also won the all-British Columbia life saving medal awarded by Ian St. Clair, defeating both Australian and New Zealand champs in this contest.

A woman reporter covering arrival of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors outside the Legislative Buildings last week was mistaken for one of them.

A stirred-up spectator tapped the news-woman sharply on the shoulder and said: "Why don't you go back to Kreslova?"

The Nature House at Thomas Francis Park, operated by Victoria Junior Natural History Society, attracted nearly 50 visitors Sunday, including several family groups.

"This is very unusual for the time of the year," commented Freeman (Skipper) King, who directs the youngsters' weekend activities at the park.

From The Times of London: "The village of Harrison Hot Springs, 60 miles east of the metropolitan area of Vancouver, has appointed a bear controller."

"Property owners had complained to the village council that bears were becoming a distinct nuisance, knocking over dustbins and frightening housewives."

I've noticed that the London newspapers can never resist a bear scare from this coast.

BENNETT'S SUGGESTION

Douks to Tackle Ottawa

HOPE (CPI)—British Columbia's Sons of Freedom Doukhobors will act on a suggestion from Premier Bennett and send a delegation to Ottawa to air their problems.

A spokesman for the sect, most of whom have been camped here for two months, said the matter was deliberated for two days, then a telegram was sent Saturday to Victoria saving a delegation of three was willing to go. Those who would make the trip were not named.

Earlier this week, 49 members of the restive religious group went to Victoria by bus. Hope village chairman Paul Scherle arranged the trip, saying the campers presented problems Hope could no longer handle without government assistance.

The group later returned here after getting assurance the government would act in any emergency presented by the campers.

During the trip, Premier Bennett suggested in Victoria the Freedomites' problems extended beyond the jurisdiction of the provincial government and should be taken to Ottawa. He said B.C. would pay the bill.

The Sons left their Kootenay homes Sept. 2 to trek to Agassiz where some 60 of their brethren are jailed for acts of terrorism.

DICKENSIAN TOUCH FOR OAK BAY AGAIN

The Dickens Christmas theme is again being featured by Oak Bay merchants this year with many decorating their store premises and costuming their staff members in Victorian style.

Board of Trade president Don Whyte said the program this year will include a large decorated tree on the municipal hall lawn and strings of colored lights across Oak Bay Avenue in the shopping district.

The board is also considering having a barbecue for children on the Saturday before Christmas, Mr. Whyte said.

RE-ELECTED president of the Victoria and District Branch of the National Defence Employees' Association for a second term is Dino Florin. Other officers of the 1,400-member group are Frank Marshall, vice-president; Jim Randall, treasurer; Mrs. Florence Stude, recording secretary, and Miss Doris Burgess, organizing secretary.

Tshombe Rapped By UN

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—The United Nations today charged responsibility for fighting in North Katanga squarely to President Moise Tshombe of Katanga province.

"All fighting and destruction is a result of Katangan secession and therefore you may say that Tshombe is responsible by definition," a UN spokesman told reporters in Leopoldville.

He was commenting on a protest letter to Tshombe from Robert Gardiner, head of UN Congo operations, which spoke of the Katangan leader's "secessionist policy of civil war."

The letter, dated Dec. 8, said destruction of a bridge over the Lualaba River during the retreat from the North Katanga town of Kongolo was an "unspeakable act of vandalism." Kongolo was recaptured by Central Congolese troops last week, after two spans of the 500-yard-long road and rail bridge were blown into the river.

Gardiner said it will take six months to repair the bridge, the cost will be $1,000,000 and "the Congo has again to suffer from acts done by mercenaries who give their service to encourage a secessionist policy."

The spokesman described as "fantastic" allegations by the Katangan government Sunday that the United Nations bore responsibility for destruction of the bridge. He also denied Katangan charges that UN planes and men assisted the central army at Kongolo.

Military Spending Higher In Record Soviet Budget

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government today unveiled a record budget of $7,600,000,000 roubles for 1963, including a 3.6 per cent increase in acknowledged military spending.

The new military budget will be 13,900,000,000 roubles as compared with 13,400,000,000 this year. Officially, one rouble is valued at $1.11.

Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov presented the new budget at the opening session of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet parliament.

The budget provides for income of $7,600,000,000 roubles and expenditures of $6,100,000,000. During the current year, income was $4,700,000,000 and expenditures were $2,700,000,000.

Garbuzov said the new defence budget will ensure "the maintenance of the Soviet armed forces at a proper level."

He asserted the Soviet Union will strive for world peace, but "until the problem of general disarmament is solved in a practical manner, the Soviet Union is compelled to set aside part of the national income for strengthening its defence potential."

Western experts believe the Soviet defence budget reveals only part of the Kremlin's military spending. The remainder, they say, is camouflaged under other budget headings.

Before Garbuzov spoke, economic chief Veniamin Dymshits announced a drastic cut-back in steel investments and a boost for the lagging chemical industry. The change of pace carried out a directive given last month by Khrushchev.

Dymshits also announced that capital investments in the country's ailing agricultural economy will increase at about the same rate as in past years.

The Soviet Communist party organ Pravda complained today that the chemical industry is lagging farther and farther behind the United States in production of synthetic fibre and building materials.

100 SUBS IN PACIFIC

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (Reuters)—More than 100 Russian submarines, some of them nuclear-powered, may be operating in the northern Pacific, a high-ranking French naval officer said today. Rear-Admiral de Scitieux de Greische, commander of French naval forces in the Pacific, said United States naval personnel in Honolulu told him there were 106 Russian submarines in the northern Pacific area including some nuclear-powered craft.

Canada Breaks Deadlock

By JOSEPH MACSWEN
UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Thanks to a compromise engineered by Canada, the 17th United Nations General Assembly voted by an avalanche Saturday to hold a world trade conference by early 1964.

Termed by Muhammad Zafulla Khan, assembly president, one of the most important actions of the current session, the vote means that the world's biggest trading nations have joined "wholeheartedly" in the project to examine the problems of underdeveloped nations.

Canada's key role was to solve a bitter conflict over the timing of the conference and the issue was in doubt until the vote—actually a series of ballots—was taken.

The assembly's 110-member economic committee had recommended that the conference be held no later than September, 1963, over the objections of the United States, Britain, France and other countries which, in effect, threatened to boycott the affair.

The big Western trading nations contended such a conference would be a flop without thorough preparation and could not be held until 1964.

HOLDS PRIVATE TALKS

The situation developed into a stalemate between the "have" countries and the "have-nots." With both sides taking an adamant stand, Senator F. M. Blois of Nova Scotia, Canadian delegate to the economic committee, held some 50 private meetings with various delegations, including the Russians.

Canada, co-sponsored by Peru, finally introduced an amendment Friday proposing that the conference be held as soon as possible after July "1964" and it was this compromise that the assembly approved during the unusual all-day meeting Saturday.

The vote on the amended resolution was 90 to 0 with one abstention, Cameron. On a separate ballot on the Canadian timing amendment, the Soviet bloc abstained and the vote was 72 to 0 with 11 abstentions.

Low cloud with fog patches was reported over many parts of southern Vancouver Island this morning—and visibility was down to zero at Nanaimo Airport at 11:30 a.m.

Visibility at Pat Bay Airport was down to quarter of a mile in places, but improving rapidly towards noon.

Vancouver Island's northern coast was swept by rain and 50-mile-an-hour winds expected to spread south.

S.A. Sanctions Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Labor Congress has asked the government to implement a United Nations resolution which calls for economic sanctions against South Africa because of its racial policies.

grown in Germany that anti-authoritarian Adenauer has himself become increasingly authoritarian.

This feeling piled up and burst through in the German elections of September, 1961. His Christian Democratic party failed to win a majority in parliament. He had to seek the support of the Free Democrats, which meant a coalition government, to get himself chosen chancellor once more.

There was a price tag on this. The Free Democrats were willing to put up with him a while longer but not indefinitely. On Nov. 8, 1961, he gave a guarantee he would retire before his term ended in 1965.

But he didn't say exactly when. This became a sore point. The Free Democrats have just put the squeeze on him again. He let it be announced last Friday he'd leave in the fall of 1963.

BABY-FACED Thomas Cadigan, 14, who's never been a problem to his family or police, was held Sunday for the strangulation killing of his 17-year-old sister. The boy signed a statement saying he killed his sister, Margaret Cadigan, in a fit of temper over whether a radio in their home should be on or off.

Clemency Refused Two Condemned Men

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal cabinet will not interfere with the death sentences of two men scheduled to be hanged in Toronto early Tuesday morning for capital murder, the justice department announced today.

A statement issued by Justice Minister Fleming's office said the cabinet will not interfere with death sentences imposed upon Arthur Lucas, 54, and Ronald Turpin, 29.

It noted that both the accused had appealed to the Ontario Court of Appeal and the Supreme Court of Canada.

"These appeals were dismissed. There was no recommendation of mercy by the jury in either case."

Manslaughter Verdict

VANCOUVER (CP)—After a 5½-hour deliberation, an all-male jury returned a verdict of manslaughter early Sunday in the case of Raymond Ballash, 26, charged originally with capital murder in the death of his wife Shirley, 22.

Fishermen Rap 'Sell-Out' To Japanese on New Order

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fishermen met in nearby Steveston during the weekend and issued a three-point demand in answer to what they call a "sell-out" of rights to Japanese fishermen.

In response to a decision by the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission permitting the Japanese to fish near Queen Charlotte Islands, the meeting here:

Asked the government to try to bring Russia into a four-power agreement with Japan, the United States and Canada; Demanded an end to herring fishing by Japan west of the Queen Charlottes;

Asked for a territorial limit for fishing 12 miles offshore. The meeting was sponsored by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) Secretary Homer Stevens said no Pacific fishing agreement will work without Russia as a member. Both Russia and Japan will move farther down the west coast of Alaska and B.C. if a firm treaty is not enacted, Stevens said.

Vancouver Socked In By Heavy Fog Blanket

VANCOUVER (CP)—The weather office reported there was no sign of a break today in the heavy fog that blanketed most of British Columbia's lower mainland early Sunday.

Vancouver International Airport on Sea Island was expected to remain closed for the second day with all flights departing and arriving at Abbotsford, 40 miles east.

Abbotsford airport, used by airlines Sunday, was closed when fog rolled in at 6 p.m., but it was clear again this morning.

TRAGEDY IN AUSTRALIA

Parents See Shark Kill Swimmer Son

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—A mother and father watched a desperate but futile fight Sunday to save their son from a shark off Normansville beach, 47 miles south of Adelaide.

Geoffrey Martin Corper, 16, was taking part in a spear-fishing competition when a 14-foot bronze whaler shark seized him by the right leg.

Allen Phillips, 27, on a surf board nearby, paddled furiously to Corper's aid. Kneeling on his surf board, calling for help and beating the water and the shark with his paddle, Phillips tried to drag the boy onto the board. "Geoff's spear was stuck in his good leg when I hauled him on to the board," Phillips said. "I pulled out the spear and jabbed it into the shark but it was like pricking it with a needle."

Phillips got Corper into shallow water, but the boy was dead.

It was the first fatal shark attack in South Australian waters in 30 years.

Corper's parents watched the fight from the shore 150 yards away, along with Phillips' wife and child. The spear became stuck in Corper's leg as he struggled with the shark.

LIKE CHURCHILL—TOO OLD

Adenauer Gets 'Shove'

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer is getting the same shove former prime minister Churchill got seven years ago. Out. The reason is the same: Too old.

In 1955, when Churchill was 81, some of the men closest to him told him he was too old to head the government any longer. They urged him to quit for the good of the country. He didn't want to go. Pressure persisted. He quit April 5, 1955.

Adenauer will be 87 in January. He's been the only chancellor West Germany has had since it was established in 1949.

In those 13 years Adenauer not only led West Germany into close alliance with some of its enemies of two world wars—the United States, Britain, France—but into a democratic society away from its ancient authoritarianism.

RELUCTANT TO GO
Like Churchill, Adenauer has been reluctant to go. Yet, in recent years, the feeling has

A Seed Is Planted

IT IS PREMATURE TO JUDGE the future influence of the National Economic Development Board which the Canadian government is now establishing. On the face of it this central brain trust looks quite innocuous but seeds thus planted have a habit of growing.

According to Mr. Nowlan, who sponsored this policy in Parliament, the government expects the new board to study every aspect of Canada's confused and changing economy. It can consider and, presumably, criticize "the whole range of government fiscal, monetary, commercial and economic policy and give the government the opportunity to look at the future effects of these policies on our economy."

This is a tall order and, in the view of the Liberal opposition, the new board is not equipped to deal with it adequately. Instead of a full-time chairman and some part-time members, the board, the Liberals say, should consist of highly-qualified experts who would have no other work to do. Moreover, instead of reporting privately to the government, as the present legislation intends, the board should make its reports public so that the people can judge them.

In thus advocating a much stronger planning apparatus than the present legislation proposes, Mr. Paul Martin naturally jeered at the government's complete change of mind. Only two years ago, when the opposition formally moved to establish such machinery the government flatly rejected it as a dangerous delegation of cabinet power to officials. The Conservative ministers' statements of alarm and scorn on that occasion were rubbed in but they will not interest the public very much.

The important thing is that the principle of central state planning has been installed in the law and system of Canada.

To be sure, the nation has been planned in a rough and ready way from the beginning. Confederation itself was a plan creating a political organism. The C.P.R. was a plan (heavily subsidized by the state) creating a transcontinental economy. Those who reject the word "planning" as if it were an alien heresy have forgotten Canada's past.

But if all man's affairs must be planned in one way or another some questions raised by the recent debate in Parliament have not been answered. Who is to do the planning? How far will it go? And for what purposes?

The government says that it alone will have any power to direct the economy, and that it has no intention of interfering unduly with private enterprise. This is easy to say but a group of advisers, if they are powerful men, can almost surely force their advice on any government.

The character of these men, therefore, is of the utmost importance. If they are to be only friends and stooges of the government that happens to be in office from time to time they will do little good.

The present government, we think, will appoint good men. Under its precarious circumstances it could hardly dare to do anything else. In all probability, however, the planning board will hardly have started work before a general election has altered the whole complexion of politics and the views of the next government cannot be foreseen.

Meanwhile a careful reading of the recent debate at Ottawa indicates that the Liberal Party is much more favorable than the government to the principle of central planning while the New Democrats would plan and direct everything if they had the chance.

All this is part of a general trend in the free world. The very tentative Canadian experiment is obviously inspired by the examples of Britain, France and the other western European nations but does not go nearly as far. Nevertheless, it is a beginning, the end of which cannot be foreseen.

Traffic Victims Are People

MR. GEORGE LINDSAY, superintendent of motor vehicles in British Columbia, is rightly appalled by the terrible toll of highway accidents this year. It is a concern which every citizen should share.

Last week, specially set aside as Safety Week, saw nine deaths on the roads and streets in the province. These were added to a total—344 fatalities—which already had broken the record set last year with 320 traffic deaths.

Mr. Lindsay places the blame on two major causes: drivers go too fast, pedestrians are careless of their safety. Other factors contribute to the toll.

The remedy boils down to one salient fact. There can be education, punishment, restriction and other measures. But in the last analysis, accidents cannot be considered in the mass—they are individual events happening to individual people. It is therefore up to each individual, whether he be driver or pedestrian, to take individual precautions, exercise individual care, keep his individual self out of an accident.

At the moment of a collision you can't lose yourself in the crowd.

Growing Old New Style

BECAUSE ROUGHLY ONE OUT of every five residents of Victoria is 65 years old or more and because about one-fifth of those in this advanced age bracket require some public assistance, new trends in retirement become matters of considerable local importance.

This capital's percentage of elderly—that is over 65—is about double the provincial average and almost three times that of Canada as a whole.

Obviously the percentage is large here because elderly people from other parts of the country and beyond are attracted by the climate to Victoria for their retirement years.

The same holds true for some centres in Florida. And in Florida, keeping in step with the changing pace of retirement is a continuing activity.

Conditions there do not, necessarily, parallel those existing in Victoria. Nor do retirement trends in the United States automatically apply in Canada. There is, nevertheless, some common ground between the two countries in this matter. Hence, the Florida findings may indicate the shape of things to come in this part of Canada.

Among other things, those findings reveal in the United States a lowering of the retirement age, formerly about 70 in private industry, more recently 65, and currently about 62.

While the age has been falling, the retirement income has been rising—in some cases as much as $1,000 a year in the last five years. Those retiring, the findings disclose, are also showing increased levels of education and requiring higher cultural and educational programs for their years in retirement.

Beyond this, there is a change in housing wants, away from the single unit to multiple homes and apartments with special facilities for the aged.

To the extent that similar developments occur in Canada, Victoria will probably have to adjust its facilities—a process which automatically involves a study of costs and the sources from which revenue can be raised to provide the accommodation and services the changing times demand. There are grounds for pride in the way some local agencies have tackled the housing problem.

A Limited Partnership

ALTHOUGH THERE MAY BE more important aspects of space exploration than the three points concerned in the new United States-Soviet agreement, the fact that there is an agreement to co-operate at all is very significant.

Details of the arrangement were worked out last summer. Now the agreement has become official by being filed with the United Nations. Under it, the two nations will co-ordinate their launchings of meteorological satellites and of satellites to map the earth's magnetic field. They will also co-operate in space communications, and they will share data on developments in these three types of experiment.

This is modest progress, of course. It falls short of the more intensive co-operation heralded earlier in both American and Russian proposals for co-operative space exploration. But it indicates that the larger plans are possible and may yet be carried out.

The formal filing of the program comes at a time when the international temperature has cooled considerably and there is an improvement of relations between Russia and the West. This atmosphere is conducive to a full realization of the benefits to be obtained from pooling space information. At the same time, the step itself, as it helps develop greater co-operation in this particular field, should aid the general climate.

Berman, Victoria Daily Times

THE INNER MEANING

Even the Questions Are Questionable

By B. A. TOBIN

ONE of the factors in the recent defeat of the Saanich move to make a study of possible terms of amalgamation with Victoria was, of course, the wily wording of the referendum.

This was a preliminary victory for the anti-amalgamationists even before the polls opened, since the measure asked if voters were in favor of an amalgamation, whereas the point at issue was whether they were in favor of investigating advantages and disadvantages. It's not a new technique, of course, but it proves on occasion to be a very handy one.

A somewhat similar manoeuvre occurred in Regina some years ago, where the question of fluoridation of the water supply was being discussed. The anti-fluoridationists arranged a survey in which residents were asked the question: "Are you in favor of putting rat poison in the water supply?"

Not surprisingly, they were able to report a negative response to "fluoridation."

Both incidents point up the fact that a voter has to know more than he reads on the ballot paper. They also indicate a few other possible applications of the tactic. And why must it always be the anti's who get the benefit?

Tobin

Take the city's forthcoming vote on the city hall square program. Instead of just a simple question about a bond issue, suppose the ballot paper asked: "Are you in favor of borrowing a few thousand dollars in order to obtain for your city an asset worth millions?" That might not be legalistic language but it would certainly sum up the situation.

The thing could have a personal application too. If a suitor, for instance, posed his question thus: "Are you in favor of marrying me and entering upon a life of cleaning house, scrubbing clothes, cooking meals, bathing babies and giving up all your outside activities?" he might be accused of negative thinking and his intended would certainly vote "no."

If, on the other hand, he phrased it: "Are you in favor of hopping up on my white charger with me and together galloping off into the sunset for a lifetime of blissful happiness?" she might well be moved to mark her "X" in the other square.

Perhaps we could get ahead a little faster in the international sphere if we presented the various questions in a more encouraging manner. The White House, say, asks the Kremlin: "Are you in favor of reducing armaments?" The Kremlin thinks it over, ponders a few objections and reservations, and probably gives a "yes" hedged around with conditions that make the whole thing impossible.

Or perhaps the Kremlin takes the initiative. It asks the White House, "Are you in favor of halting bomb tests?" Well sure, anybody would probably go along with that. But... and then come the special angles and the "ifs."

Now the way to get immediate negative responses would be to word the questions something like: "Are you in favor of gambling your national security by abolishing your weapons?" or "Are you in favor of halting your bomb tests and taking a chance that you won't get left behind in the race?"

Those are the thoughts which the nations seem to read into such proposals anyway. But suppose a more inviting approach were made?

How about: "Are you in favor of saving your country billions of dollars, improving your living standards, reducing the possibility of war and making the world a better place in which to live by reducing armaments?" It would be hard to answer "no" to a question like that.

Or: "Are you in favor of halting further pollution of the earth's atmosphere, already dangerously contaminated, saving millions of dollars for your taxpayers, and taking a step towards protecting the world from destruction by halting bomb tests?" Such a question might prompt a worthwhile reply.

If, unlike the amalgamation ballot paper, it meant what it said.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Post-Campaign

I would be very grateful to your wonderful paper, the Times, for its splendid reporting of my recent try of Dec. 6. Although I was at the end of the lot I do not feel ashamed of it as many have to start from scratch when you are open to attack from the "rear," as we termed it in the "service."

I thank also all my friends who supported me and saw fit to vote according to their views and especially to some of the older people who are facing very difficult times. The successful candidates are experienced in their field and have given good service and I wish them all the best in their future two years of office. Also to those who did not succeed, who were excellent in the campaign for clean-cut ideas and sportsmanship.

The radio stations for their support and kindness. And wish you all, as Robbie Burns said, "Lang may your lum reek" at Christmas and New Year.

C. H. MACMILLAN,
971 Lodge Avenue.

Mystic Creek Park

Many of us who count ourselves as "old timers" have been very glad to read the heading "Planning Board Strongly Suggests Mystic Creek Be Kept as a Park" and also hope that it will bear fruit successfully.

I was one of those who, many years ago, used to go every now and then to the Mystic Creek area at Cadboro Bay. It was one of the loveliest bits of woodland and water that one could possibly see.

For that reason alone it is really well worth while keeping as a park. May I wish any group bending its efforts to that end every possible success.

H. C. HOLMES,

Whose Litter?

Re the present controversy over litterbugs and street sweeping:

General street traffic discards, scatters and spills everything from newspapers, bags, cigarette wrappings and lunch buckets. The ill-bred and the drunkards discard broken bottles, vomit and spit, and yet the city fathers and the Chamber of Commerce call that our garbage, our litter, and angrily denounce those who sweep into the gutter.

In all my years of schooling and reading, the gutter has always been the place for catching filth and dirty water.

Are we merchants expected to gather this filth on a dust pan and bring it into our clean premises? Or are we expected to walk to the gutter to empty pan by pan, only to find it either blowing off or blowing into our faces in the process of emptying?

I notice Alderman Edgelow who proposes to get tough, is himself operating from an upper level, so knows nothing of the problems of those he insults. This recent ruckus caused me to obtain a copy of the bylaw. Much to our amazement and indignation, we found that the merchants are supposed to sweep the streets.

When was this medieval bylaw passed that demands such unsanitary procedures? Since when has the city not been obligated to keep its own streets clean? Every merchant is already overburdened with ridiculously high licenses and taxes, and yet is expected to be responsible for street filth on sidewalks over which he has absolutely no jurisdiction.

LYDIA ARSENS,
1313 Douglas Street.

Youth and Alcohol

A correspondent has rightly asked that the other side of the problem of youth drinking be presented with relevant facts. The following may be useful:

1. That at present all sales of alcoholic beverages to persons under 21 are prohibited by all the provinces. This applies also to the consumption of such beverages in a public place.
2. That one traffic accident in eight now involves an impaired driver under nineteen.
3. Statistics for last year not including Vancouver showed 1,094 impaired drivers of all ages to be involved.
4. That the Harvard School for the Studies of Alcoholism a world authority for many years, has asserted as follows:
  - a. That the present number of known alcoholics in U.S.A. far exceeds 3,000,000. Canada has 200,000 of which 30,000 are in B.C.

b. That the three most dangerous diseases of humanity are, the heart, cancer and alcoholism.

Our provincial authorities have declared that their $26,000,000 of profit from the sale of liquor does not nearly compensate for the expense direct and indirect that is attributable to the traffic.

The local professor who so freely commends to his students and others the cultivation of drinking habits, might ponder these and many other relevant facts, and perhaps indulge in a bit of objective thinking.

Quite a Contrast

We must admire the Grey Cup champions who, according to their own coach, Bud Grant; not only are physically fine, but spiritually, with souls akin to and dependent on God, as demonstrated by their kneeling to Him in their dressing room before they go out and defeat the best football teams in Canada.

Quite a contrast to the teen-age babes whose ambition is to drink like grown-up drunks. Of course there are teen-agers of strong character whose souls discipline their animal nature but they are resented by the weaklings.

Our higher nature, soul, must rule the animal body to make educated champions.

Branch Line

By MAURICE WESTERN

ONE of the more curious episodes of the present Parliament is the affair of the Esthazy railway. It falls into three parts. Act One opened and closed on October 23 when Mr. J. N. Ormiston, the Conservative member for Melville, moved second reading of a private bill authorizing the Canadian Pacific Railway to build a line from Bredenbury to the potash development of International Minerals and Chemical Corporation at Esthazy.

Western

Mr. Ormiston, in accordance with long-established traditions, gave a glowing account of the Esthazy development noting that the company involved is a fully owned Canadian subsidiary of a U.S. corporation. The industry has been served since 1957 by the CNR but it was anxious, said Mr. Ormiston, to have the facilities of both railways in order that the fullest and best distribution of the product might be served.

Ever since the publication of the MacPherson report, Parliament has been somewhat touchy about branch lines and such related matters as subsidies and the CNR deficit. Mr. Ormiston thought it advisable, therefore, to indicate reasons why two lines were needed in this case.

His first thought was that, "in the event of the destruction of one line by physical and natural causes," another would be available. Mr. Ormiston and the CPR apparently had in mind CNR washouts.

In addition, the equipment of both lines was needed for efficient operation. "The ideal carrier for the product," Mr. Ormiston pointed out, "is the covered hopper-car and the supply of this type of car cannot be met even by the combined stock of both the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National." How the supply situation would be altered by branch line construction he did not explain.

Fully Justified

Mr. Ormiston was in no doubt, however, that the project was fully justified and he sought fast action on the ground that the CPR wanted to complete the line before the onset of inclement weather.

Act Two was played out in the railway committee. The CPR witness made out a persuasive case. Members were perplexed, however, by the unwillingness of the Conservatives to call a witness from the CNR. Subsequently Mr. Fairweather, a New Brunswick Conservative, explained the position in this way:

"Surely the simple fact is that the Canadian National Railway does not oppose the bill before the committee. The Canadian National Railways have a right to appear before the committee and to state their views. They had notice of the committee meeting. The notice is widely given in government documents or in public documents. Surely the silence of the Canadian National Railways is more eloquent than any speeches against this development."

The silence of the CNR was broken in Act Three, (by which time the measure had been passed) when Mr. Donald Gordon appeared before the sessional committee on railways, air lines and shipping. Mr. Gordon was questioned on the matter by Mr. Fisher of Port Arthur. The replies may be found at Pages 269-272 of the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence.

Among other points made by Mr. Gordon were the following:

The CNR had been able to supply satisfactory service to the company and had been "complimented on it."

He saw "no shortage of hopper cars." The CNR had not been invited to attend the committee meetings. They had considered coming but, without an invitation, they did not like to force themselves on the committee in a matter affecting an important customer.

What if there had been an invitation? That, said Mr. Gordon, was in the realm of conjecture, "but I do not think we have ever refused to appear before a committee."

Adverse Effect

Entrance of the CPR into the field, "would have an adverse effect on the income that we expect to receive in terms of the development." Indeed, Mr. Gordon testified, the CNR "made representations to the Canadian Pacific Railway to the effect that we felt that duplication of the line was not necessary, and we made an offer to them which we thought was reasonable, that would have the effect of turning over to the Canadian Pacific Railway at the nearest exchange point such amount of traffic as they might feel entitled to by reason of their relationship with the company."

What about washouts? The subject, said Mr. Gordon, was never discussed with the CNR. He thought the argument "very far-fetched," although legitimate in terms of a competitor trying to get business.

As for the ability of the CNR to serve a potash development with capacity of 1.2 million tons, Mr. Gordon observed that the Santa Fe was handling 3 million out of Carlsbad, New Mexico.

Asked by Mr. Fisher if the outcome was a "considerable disappointment" to the CNR, Mr. Gordon said "Yes."

He mentioned the large expenditures made by the CNR to service the project, including the purchase of 200 aluminum-covered hopper cars for $3,700,000 and 100 more steel-covered cars for $1,400,000. He was not aware of CPR expenditures. "All I know is that they had the line built before it came before the committee."

"A disgrace," said Mr. Fisher. "But that's the way of railway business in the House of Commons."

Transfusions and Hepatitis

On several occasions I have spoken here of my distress over the fact that we physicians do not pay much attention to the statements of experts to the effect that a goodly percentage of the thousands of transfusions of blood now being given are not really necessary; the patient would almost certainly have recovered without the injection of blood. Often the patient receives only a pint of the red fluid which, as the experts say, is not enough to help anyone who is really in need of blood.

Alvarez

Why then do we physicians by the hundreds order transfusions? I imagine, for two reasons: in the first place, because other doctors are doing it; and second, because many a doctor is so zealous as to do everything possible to help his patient. As a result, he overtreats and gives too much medicine.

What is sad is that too many donors of blood are carriers of the virus of the very dangerous serum hepatitis. I just read that Drs. J. Garrot Allen of Stanford and W. A. Layman of the University of Chicago have recently studied what happened to 2,696 persons who received a transfusion of blood during the last ten-year period. Only three per cent got serum hepatitis, but even this is too big a risk for comfort.

I personally would refuse to accept a transfusion unless I needed it to save my life. I also would hate to be stuck with a lancet or a hypodermic needle unless I saw it had come new and sterilized from the factory. Today, I am happy to say, some laboratories use these needles and lancets which are safe because they have never been used before.

In writing this column, I do not want to make it hard for a wise doctor who knows that he must give much blood to a person who is bleeding terribly as from a stomach ulcer. What the experts are objecting to is the giving of a transfusion to a person who has a little anemia or has had an operation in which almost no blood was lost.

Many women become much alarmed over a discharge from one or both nipples, and according to Dr. George Crile, Jr., of Cleveland, occasionally the woman with such a discharge has her whole breast removed surgically when the condition would have been relieved with a simple little operation, on the tissue around the nipple. As Dr. Crile says, discharge from a nipple is not a common sign of breast cancer, nor are little abscesses around the nipple likely to be due to cancer.

Chronic cystic mastitis (inflammation of the breast tissue) "is the commonest cause of a brownish or opalescent discharge from the nipple. It is not a symptom of cancer. It requires no treatment beyond simple reassurance." On the other hand, a discharge of red blood from the nipple may be associated with a little cancer in a milk duct (tiny channel) in the nipple. Such a little cancer can be removed by a minor operation in which the duct is opened up.

When there is any doubt about the nature of a discharge, some of the fluid should be put on a slide and stained, and examined under the microscope. The type of cells then found will tell much to an expert. Sometimes they will indicate the presence of cancer, but often they won't.

I have seen cases in which it was helpful to learn that a brownish discharge came from both nipples at the same time, as perhaps right after a confinement. In such a case, it is unlikely that cancer could have developed in both nipples at exactly the same time. In several such cases, I advised against a big operation, and in each case the woman lived on for many years without having to lose her breast.

In 1952, Mendez and Harley reported their surprise when a child of seven, who was being given quinine (atabrine) for the elimination of an intestinal parasite, lost its attack of petit-mal, the brief "forgetful" spells of epileptic children. Quinine is a synthetic antimalarial drug given during World War II to thousands of our soldiers in the South Seas to keep them free of malaria.

Since the discovery by Mendez and Harley, a number of men have been reporting good results with the use of quinine in the treatment of petit-mal. Now, Drs. W. A. Sibley, Howard J. Tucker and Clark T. Rand of Cleveland report that with the drug they were able to control petit-mal seizures in 25 of 40 children. Unfortunately, the drug did not quiet the convulsive type of epilepsy.

Minor toxic effects were noted in only two of the children treated. In some cases, when given the drug, a child who had been doing badly at school became a good student.

U.K. Red Becomes A Peer

LONDON (CP)—The new Lord Milford, a Communist who succeeded to the title at the death of his father Friday, said Sunday he will decide within a week whether he will take his seat in the House of Lords.

The former Wogan Phillips, a gentleman farmer, was located working at a Communist bazaar at Cheltenham, Gloucestershire.

"I will have to consider the position carefully before making a statement," he told reporters. "I do not want to do anything that will upset the family."

The late Lord Milford, 88-year-old former shipping magnate and race horse owner, was vice-chairman of the Wales and Monmouth Conservative Association.

The new Lord Milford, 60, could renounce the title and refuse to take his seat in the House of Lords.

Still he would technically be a peer and as such could not be elected to the House of Commons. He was an unsuccessful Communist party candidate for the Commons in 1950 and was a Communist member of Cirencester local council from 1947 to 1949.

If he were to decide to enter the Lords he would need two sponsors and there was wide speculation Sunday night as to which two members of that august House would volunteer for the job.

INTERNAL PLOT DISCLOSED

Reds Seek Iceland 'Grab'

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—The Reykjavik newspaper Morgunblad reports what it says were secret Communist party plans to take over the government of Iceland.

It says the plans, outlined in a resolution passed at a recent party meeting, were formulated in four years of work by a nine-man committee. Morgunblad gives this account:

The Communists realized they could not achieve power by democratic means on this island of about 180,000 population and were not strong enough for an armed revolution. Therefore, the resolution proposed formation of a "national front," consisting of Communists, fellow travellers and co-operative elements in the left-ist Progressive party (now the opposition party) along with institutions and unions which have a majority of Communist and leftist members.

The plan called for formation of a national front government to achieve power, which they would secure by forming a political police force and putting their officials in key positions.

103 Shots, 104 Birds

TURIN, Italy (Reuters)—Prince Philip was hailed as a master marksman Friday. "The Duke is a magnificent shot," said a spokesman for a nearby estate. "On one occasion he brought down 103 pheasants with 104 shots." Philip was on his way home from Australia.

Another major point in the resolution was a plan to make Iceland dependent on the Soviet bloc by trade agreements and loans.

Iceland, a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is governed by a coalition of the Independence party and the Western-minded Social Democratic party, with Olafur Thors of the former as premier. The Communists have 10 seats in the 60-member parliament.

HOME GARDEN

Keep That Lucky Streak Going

We have all heard and used the term "beginner's luck," and in gardening it sometimes happens that a beginner will have "luck" with every seed, cutting or plant he tries in his first two or three years.

Later, just as he feels he is becoming an expert, his "luck" seems to run out. Damping off occurs among the seedlings, cuttings rot before they root, and the potted plants no longer thrive.

Without knowing all the circumstances of a given case, one can only hazard guesses as to the reasons for the failures.

One possible reason could be uninvaded pots carrying spores of fungous diseases from one time of using to another.

New pots do not need sterilizing, but they need soaking in water for 12 hours before use. The water and the container should be clean.

Used pots should be scrubbed in water after each using, then allowed to soak for an hour in a pale pink solution of potassium permanganate if any disease has been suspected or proven.

An easy way of sterilizing a small pot or two of sand or soil for seed sowing or cuttings in winter is to fill the pot, soak it well, and stand it on a metal tray in a moderately heated oven.

An hour at 300 deg. F. for a three-and-a-half-inch pot of wet sand or soil should send the steam through it to kill all fungous spores. Both the pot and its contents will then be sterilized.

A new greenhouse, new pots, new seed boxes and new flats, and soil which perhaps has not been cultivated for a few years, could these add up to "luck" for the beginner?

If so, it means that we old-timers have to pay more attention to the little details of cleanliness so that our "luck" continues to hold.

Milk Price Doubled To Public

VANCOUVER (CP)—The price of milk is doubled on the way from the producer to the public, mainland Dairyman's Association manager F. V. Bradley said Sunday.

He said the milk board's recent decision to reduce the price of milk at the producer level from $6.11 per 100 pounds to $5.90 means that though a quart of milk is sold by producers at 15 1/2 cents a quart, the public pays 25 cents.

In addition to the 9 1/2 cents a quart difference which goes to the distributor, the distributor also gains from the cream he sells, and from high cream content milk sold at a higher price.

Therefore, Bradley said, a can of milk sold by the producer at $5.90, costs the public more than $12 by the time it is door-delivered.

Mr. Bradley was speaking in an interview following a week-end meeting in nearby Richmond of representatives of 5,000 B.C. milk producers.

The delegates decided to approach milk board chairman E. C. Carr, asking him to rescind a board decision to reduce the producer price that provides for a wider profit margin at the distribution level.

A-G Accuses McGeer Of Phoney Motives

Point Grey Liberal candidate Dr. Pat McGeer was accused Friday of downgrading his own university for phoney political motives.

Attorney General Robert Bonner, also an MLA for Point Grey, was answering Dr. McGeer's campaign charge that B.C. gives less aid to higher education today than any province except for the Maritimes.

Dr. McGeer is running in the Point Grey byelection Dec. 17.

"It's disgraceful that a member of the University of B.C. staff would lower himself to do this sort of thing," said Mr. Bonner.

"He is using his university for phoney political issues that might react to the detriment of other staff members."

Dr. McGeer had cited per capita grants in B.C. to prove his charge.

Mr. Bonner said this was a ridiculous way to assess standards of education.

Hunt Nears End In Mail Robbery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal investigators feel certain they have tracked down four men who committed a $1,500,000 mail truck robbery last August near Plymouth, Mass., an informed source said today.

The arrest of the four was reported being delayed in a "war of nerves" which U.S. government officials hope will enable them to recover the cash.

James F. Kelleher, special assistant to Postmaster-General J. Edward Day, confirmed a Boston report that local police had been requested to keep a close check on "four prime suspects."

Kelleher indicated federal officials had built a case against the four on the basis of evidence which has been in their hands since October, including part of a police uniform and foot lockers found in a private residence in Massachusetts.

A key figure in the robbery was a man wearing a policeman's uniform. Shortly before the mail truck was stopped and robbed, he took a station at a road intersection already passed by the mail truck and diverted traffic away from the robbery scene.

SAME LOCKER TYPE

Investigators said the foot lockers were of the same type known to have been used by the robbers to transport their cash burden after the holdup.

The four described as prime suspects are known to have been under almost constant surveillance for sometime.

Postal officials apparently are hoping that the four will become convinced they will never get a chance to spend the loot and will surrender.

Earlier, a federal investigator in Boston said the government several times had been on the brink of bringing evidence before a grand jury in the case.

"I am advised that it takes about six months from the time a bilateral agreement with the U.S. is signed to work out the technical details, including supply of the weapons."

and the final training in handling," the former Liberal associate defence minister said.

Mr. Hellyer told a meeting of the Western Ontario North Liberal Association the first of eight Canadian F-104 squadrons goys on alert in Europe at the end of April. The aircraft are designed to carry small atomic bombs, he added. Counting back six months from April 30 makes last Nov. 1 the date when Canada should have moved to obtain the weapons.

"We are therefore considered to be in default in respect to our commitment," to NATO he said.

STRACHAN PROPOSAL

New Board Asked To Curb Strife

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan Saturday night unveiled a legislative program to tackle labor-management problems.

His main plank will be creation of a permanent labor management - government board to study B.C. social and economic problems.

Mr. Strachan urged these other moves in a speech to a New Democratic Party dinner at Salmon Arm.

Appointment of a full-time labor minister (Labor Minister

Ex-Imperial Official Dies In City at 72

Funeral services were held today for William Wightman, 72, of 3690 Blenkinsop, who died Saturday.

He was born in Scotland, came to Canada at the age of 18 and worked almost 40 years for Imperial Oil at Sarnia, Halifax and Regina, where he was chief accountant.

A Victoria resident for seven years, he was a member of Uplands Golf Club.

Mr. Wightman is survived by the widow Margaret, and two sons, Edward of Vancouver and William of Victoria.

Leslie Peterson is also minister of education).

Replacement of "anti-labor" laws by new legislation which he said would restore equality and freedom of speech in labor-management relations.

INADEQUATE

Mr. Strachan said "no mere" productivity council would meet B.C.'s needs.

"No reasonable person can expect labor to co-operate in increased production if such an increase only means the further loss of jobs and a greater disproportionate distribution of income.

To aim at productivity increases alone would be sterile. There must also be a willingness to ensure a wider distribution of benefits."

Mr. Strachan said the three-level committee should carry out a continuous and comprehensive study of problems and possibilities for B.C.

Victoria's Christmas Seal Campaign in aid of B.C. Tuberculosis Society has so far raised $15,600 — considerably more than a year ago.

"We hope to raise $24,000 this year," says Mrs. J. U. Kimmitt, campaign chairman.

Anyone wanting seals should contact her at the new office, 1902 Fort Street, Tel. EV 2-4422.

RHODES SCHOLAR

VANCOUVER (CP) — Brian Scarfe, 19-year-old University of British Columbia student with a passionate interest in underdeveloped countries, has been awarded this year's Rhodes Scholarship.

He is the son of Dean Neville Scarfe of the UBC education faculty. He expects to get his B.A. degree in economics next summer and will go to England in September for his two-year scholarship at Oxford University.

Brian was born in Harpenden, England, and came to Canada with his parents at the age of eight.

INTERNAL RENEWAL OF CATHOLIC CHURCH

'Pastoral' Wins Over 'Doctrinal'

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The current ecumenical council is unique in the history of the Roman Catholic Church.

Twenty councils met before, always to condemn an error in the eyes of the church or battle what was considered a philosophical evil.

But the present council which recessed over the weekend until the fall, has a positive cause to plead instead of a complaint. That cause is internal renewal of Catholicism before going on to seek union with all the churches of Christianity.

Basic changes are already under way within the Roman Catholic Church. The calling of the council shows it. A prominent theologian explained:

"The council cannot now be undone. Subsequent failure would only serve as a summons for another Vatican council."

Pope John announced before the world-wide gathering of bishops started Oct. 11 that the council "will not deal in new doctrine or sensational formulas."

DEBATE CONTINUES

But the tone of the council was to adopt for itself—pastoral or doctrinal—hung in the balance while a crucial debate continues midway through the initial stage that ended Saturday.

From the debate emerged strong, sharp outlines of how the council would, henceforth, handle its twin tasks of renewal and reunion. Experts say it was the decisive turning point.

The hard-fought thesis was on divine revelation. The Catholic Church teaches that scripture and tradition are the sources of God's revealed word. Protestants believe in scripture alone.

Was the council to stress doctrine in the rigid, scholastic terminology used in seminars?

Or would it be better to find a new and different way to illustrate the same doctrine, a clearer way designed to reach all the people in simple terms without reviving old reformation arguments?

The issue came to a vote, and most of the 2,200 bishops chose the latter course. Pope John then pulled the revelation thesis out of the council, creating a special commission heavily staffed by Christian unity experts. The Pope ordered a vigorous rewriting of the the-

BOY CHARGED IN MURDER OF GIRL, 10

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Robert Maxwell Linsley, 16, of nearby Lancaster was arraigned today on a charge of capital murder in the stabbing death Saturday of a 10-year-old girl.

The youth, fainting in the courtroom and was caught by two constables as he slumped to the floor.

He was charged in the death of Dianne Ruth Perry, whose body was found in the stockroom of an uptown Saint John department store, less than an hour after she left her mother to go to the toy department.

The case was adjourned until Dec. 17.

Cowichan XV Alone in First

Cowichan has bounced back into sole possession of first place in the Victoria Rugby Union's first division.

Forced to share the top berth with James Bay Athletic Association after the Oarsmen had thumped Oak Bay Whites 25-0 in a Saturday match, Cowichan boomed back in front at Duncan Sunday by whipping Navy 16-0.

Bob Wineberg and Jack Maxwell paced the Oarsmen Saturday. Wineberg collected 13 points on two penalty goals, a try and two conversions.

Good Leidal also scored a try.

JBAA's Intermediate club lost a Saturday decision, taking a 14-6 defeat from Naval Technical School and Oak Bay Whites were downed 9-3 by Saanich in the junior league as Bob Hale, Ken Neufeldt and Brian Richmond scored Saanich tries.

Lin Bell scored three tries and George Abel booted a penalty goal and two conversions as University School blanked Shawnigan Lake in a school match.

Americans Close In on Title

MANILA (AP)—The United States all but wrapped up the Philippines invitational international basketball tournament championship Sunday night.

The strong American quintet thrashed National China 100-50 for their fifth straight win without a loss.

The Lethbridge, Alta., Nationals are in second place in the tournament, with four wins against a loss. They lost 69-38 Saturday to the U.S.

Spain's rugged squad rolled back The Philippines 82-77 in Sunday's other game.

Two playing days remain in the 10-day tournament. Puerto Rico meets Canada and Spain Tuesday. Australia Tuesday. Puerto Rico plays China, and the United States meets The Philippines Thursday.

Today and Wednesday will be rest days.

NEW GROUP

Christmas In Schools Protested

VANCOUVER (CP) — The celebration of Christmas in schools is a violation of the civil liberties of non-Christians, Dr. Werner Cohn of the University of British Columbia said Sunday.

Speaking at the founding meeting of the B.C. Civil Liberties Association, Dr. Cohn said preaching Christianity in schools is an infringement of religious freedom.

He read a report by a Jewish mother who said her daughter, a top student, was persecuted for asking to be excused from singing Christian hymns at Christmas.

The mother said the teacher and school principal told the girl she should be tolerant and sign the hymns. "This is tolerance," said Dr. Cohn, a sociologist.

After the incident, the mother said, her daughter was taunted as a "Christ-killer."

The association's inaugural meeting was organized by student Mike Audain who said the association was conceived last summer by a group who formed a committee to help defend 70 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors against charges of conspiring to intimidate the governments of Canada and B.C. with acts of violence.

INDIANS VICTIMS

Mrs. Bea Garner of the Coaleetza fellowship, speaking to the meeting on the rights of native Indians, said Indians are often victims of subtle discrimination as well as discriminatory laws.

The Indian will continue to have liberties problems, she said, as long as he remains socially distinct from the majority of society's members.

Tony Emery, a professor at Victoria College, said police mentality is increasing in Canada.

NEW YORK (AP) — This city of 8,000,000 went into its second straight day without newspapers today, and hope was dim for an early end to the printers' strike that stopped the presses at all nine major metropolitan dailies.

Both sides predicted a long newspaper famine as they prepared to resume negotiations late this morning.

New York Typographical Union No. 6 (AFL-CIO) went on strike against The Times, Daily News, Journal-American and World-Telegram and Sun at 2 a.m. Saturday in a contract dispute.

The Herald Tribune, Daily Mirror, Post, Long Island Star-Journal and the Long Island Press then suspended publication voluntarily, with the press continuing to print suburban editions for Nassau and Suffolk counties on Long Island.

The nine newspapers have a combined circulation of 5,500,000 papers a day in the metropolitan area. The strike has idled 18,000 employees on the dailies.

STRIKES HIT TWICE

For The News, with the largest U.S. circulation at 2,000,000 copies a day, the strike was the second in a month.

The New York unit of the American Newspaper Guild—in a wage dispute with the seven Manhattan dailies—went on strike against The News last month and arrived at a contract that set the pattern for other guild-newspaper pacts here.

The other newspapers did not close down during that strike, because they have individual contracts with the AFL-CIO guild, unlike their joint contracts with the craft unions.

Over the weekend, Joseph Kingsburgh-Smith, publisher of The Journal-American, appealed to President Kennedy to have Wirtz intervene in the current strike as he did in the guild dispute.

In Washington, however, a labor department spokesman said Wirtz had no immediate plans for intervening.

Meanwhile, the 4,000-member Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union (AFL-CIO), which also had been negotiating with the publishers for a new contract, voted to "fully support" the printers in their strike.

The Brooklyn Daily, a tabloid newspaper, announced it was stepping up its press run to 300,000 copies a day and expanding its size to 32 pages in an effort to fill the void.

Normally the paper has a circulation of 50,000 with about 24 pages for each edition, editor Arnold Fine said.

GOP Urges Overthrow of Castro

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans called on President Kennedy Saturday for action toward the "complete elimination" of Communist military power in Cuba and the overthrow of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

In one of a series of resolutions adopted unanimously at a wind-up session of a two-day conference, the Republican National Committee accused the Democratic administration of deceiving the American people about the presence of missiles in Cuba at a time when it said GOP spokesmen had exposed their presence there. The Republicans lashed out at what they called "suppression and distortion of truth" by the administration in its information policies.

They condemned what they said was Kennedy's grab for excessive power in the presidency.

Farm Income Down

ROME (AP) — Canada fared the worst among countries where farmers' net incomes fell last year, the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization annual review reported Sunday. The fall was 24 per cent. It brought net farm incomes in Canada in 1961 to the lowest level since 1945. Farmers' cash incomes, however, rose because of sales from previous years' stocks, the report said.

VANCOUVER ISLAND ROUNDUP

Work Starts on New Sidney Park

SIDNEY—The village has already started to landscape five acres of property on Fifth Street which residents in Thursday's elections voted in favor of dedicating as a park.

A total of 100 trees, donated by the B.C. Forest Service, have been planted around the property situated between Ocean and Weller Street. Trees chosen are maples and catalpas.

Village clerk A. W. Sharp said long range plans for the triangular shaped park with 420-foot of water frontage, call for the construction of a parking lot, rest rooms, a picnic area and a playground for children.

DUNCAN—Donald C. Morton, reeve of North Cowichan, was presented with the Joanna Stevenson Memorial Trophy for being the cow with the highest production at Saturday night's annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Ayrshire Club.

Reeve Morton also received a perpetual silver tray from the provincial body for the highest small herd average and a certificate for highest herd average.

Gold and silver certificates for high milk and butterfat production went to Ray Courchen, of Cowichan Station; J. A. N. Balme, Cobble Hill, one silver; Mrs. N. Thompson, Port Alberni, one silver, and Reeve Morton, one silver.

The club's new slate of officers are: Neil Reimer, Sidney, president; J. A. N. Balme, vice-president; Glen Phillips, Duncan, secretary-treasurer; and directors, A. R. Sims, Comox, Archie Stevenson, Fairbridge, and Steve Dougan, Cobble Hill.

Guest speaker for the evening was S. B. Peterson, B.C. 4-H supervisor.

NANAIMO—Robert Templeton Lawson, 22, and Robert George Patterson appeared in court Saturday charged with stealing a 400-pound safe containing about $300 last Wednesday.

Lawson pleaded guilty and was remanded until Monday. Patterson was remanded to December 17.

NANAIMO—Andrew Bale of Nanaimo, received a card from Bonners Ferry, Idaho, that was a little late—it was marked December, 1952.

The card was sent by friends visiting Idaho 10 years ago.

An iron left plugged in on the kitchen table was blamed for a $500 blaze Saturday which destroyed a wall and part of the ceiling of a dwelling owned by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Jack, Patricia Bay Indian Reserve.

They were away, delivering knitted Indian sweaters when the fire broke out.

Two Convicted On Theft Charge

DUNCAN—Local men James MacLaughlin, alias Mickey Thompson and Josef Galea were convicted of breaking and entering Evans Motors Ltd., Nov. 29, and stealing two tires and car accessories.

They will be sentenced Dec. 13 following probation reports.

Jerrold D. Mutter, Cobble Hill, an accomplice in the offence, received a one-year suspended sentence. He pleaded guilty in police court last week.

Reg Hoole Heads Calf Club

Reg Hoole was elected president of the Saanich Jersey 4-H Calf Club at an annual meeting held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ken E. Stanlake, 7012 East Saanich.

Other officers elected were: Bob Stanlake, vice-president; Wendy Baker, secretary; David Evans, treasurer; Mike Stanlake, historical committee; Greg Baker, news reporter; Greg Baker, Judy Chilcott, telephone committee.

Named junior leaders were: Joan Youell, Jacquelyn Rosman, John Stanlake, Pat Hoole, Reg. Hoole, Bob Evans and Wendy Baker.

Man Drowns As Skiff Overturns

UCLUELET (CP) — Steve Tutube, 23, of the Ucluelet Indian Reserve drowned in the inlet here Saturday when he lost his grasp of an overturned skiff and was swept away in the fast-flowing tide.

Police dragged the inlet Saturday and Sunday but found no trace of the body.

Tutube and a companion, Sammy Mackay, 34, were on their way back to the reserve from the town in their eight-foot fibre-glass skiff when it overturned.

The two men were thrown into the water but managed to cling to the skiff.

Police said they apparently drifted to within about 300 yards of the open sea when Tutube panicked. He tried to climb on top with the idea of righting the boat.

In doing so he became exhausted, lost his grip on the boat and slipped away.

Mackay stayed with the boat and kept shouting for help until some one in one of the houses near the shore of the reserve heard him and put out a boat.

One Number System Due For Fishermen

B.C. commercial fishermen must obtain separate licences for each type of fishing gear but, starting Jan. 1, each licence will have the same number.

Formerly each licence had a different number. The number must be displayed on every fishing boat.

The department of fisheries has also announced that each applicant for a licence must show proof of Canadian citizenship or of service in the armed services.

School Board Head, Trustee Re-elected

COURTENAY — School Board chairman James Simon and Trustee Gunnar Johnson have been re-elected trustees for two-year terms at a meeting of rural representatives.

A vacant seat for a trustee from Cumberland village and three representatives from Cumberland rural area are expected to be filled soon with appointments by the education minister.

Four names have been obtained for the vacancies and will go before the next school board meeting for recommendation to Victoria.

The vacancies occurred when the village failed to nominate a trustee in the municipal elections and only one ratepayer showed up at the annual Cumberland rural meeting.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Helen O'Connell, Lima, Ohio's gift to song, who's here celebrating her approaching grandmotherhood—and recording an album—told the B.W. and me that Hollywood's delighted now that New York seems to be afflicted frequently with "smaze" (smoke and haze). Hollywood had grown quite weary of New Yorkers sneering about the California smog.

While Helen was telling us this at Toots Shor's, we got a call from a comedian:

"The smaze is so thick at the Copacabana, a guy took home another man's wife instead of his own—not that he minded."

"You see?" said Helen. She was with her daughter, Mrs. Jackie Jackson, 18, of near Boston who's expecting. Helen, who plays the Las Vegas Sahara shortly with Buddy Hackett, revealed that the last

"Here's Hollywood" TV show will be exciting. On it, she asks Tony Curtis if he once said he'd like to punch David Susskind in the nose—and Tony said he did, he still does, and he will.

Robert Goulet, who's had all types of women customers try to make love to him at the Plaza Persian Room, was a little startled when—while singing "Spending My Life Making Love To You"—Milton Berle leaped up and kissed him. Goulet said Picasso was held up... and asked by Paris police to sketch the hold-up man. "He did, and the police went out and captured a nun, a TV set and the Eiffel Tower," Berle said. "Now I'm going to tell you how to tell that story right."

Mme De Gaulle (Paris is saying) went to the Louvre, then returned excitedly and said to her husband, "Charles, those Rembrandts and da Vincis are fabulous. Why can't we have some like that in our house?" The General answered, "Yvonne, I'm so busy, even an hour a week I couldn't spend painting."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Singer Jill Corey and her husband, baseballer Don Hoak, may work in TV together. These modern dangers: Buddy Greco was injured when a golf cart overturned on him. Mary Kaye (of the famed Kaye trio) got a proposal from oil magnate Doug Brody. "Mad, Mad World" with its dozens of stars, will solve its billing problems by listing three categories: "Starring," "Co-Starring" and "Also Starring."

Joe Levine phoned Sophia Loren in Rome and let her hear the music from the Peppermint Lounge. Paul Anka signed a big ten-year contract with the Concord Hotel.

The total number of unemployed in Victoria is 3,648, according to the National Employment Service.

This is 200 less than at this time a year ago and 1,820 fewer than at this date in 1960.

In the last week 80 less women applied for work and 86 more men made application, causing a net increase in the number of unemployed of six.

An NES official described the present job level as being "at a very satisfactory level for this time of year."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other interesting prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by mail readers and those who submit the questions by e-mail to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The questions who ask the five questions answered each day receive a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the same questions.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Mooreen Baker, age 13, Kahoka, Mo., for her question:

What are clouds made of?

Everyone has tried to make water which blends with the imaginary pictures from fluffy, white summer clouds. But never do we find two that are exactly alike. What's more, every cloud is always busy changing its shape. It may also change from foamy white to pearly grey to glowing black. All the cloud types are changeable, and we would expect different clouds to be made from different materials. This is both true and untrue. All clouds are made of moisture, so basically we can say that all clouds are made of the same material. Moisture, of course, is water, and we know that water can make many different forms. Frozen water, crusts the pond with solid, slippery ice. Liquid water runs through our faucets and fills our bathtubs. Boiling water turns to steam and vapor, and vapor is the gaseous form of water which blends with the other invisible gases of the air.

A cirrus cloud flying high in the sky like a curly, white feather is most likely made of small fragments of ice. This is moisture in the frozen or crystallized state. A dark, flat stratus cloud, glowering with threats, most likely teems with growing raindrops. A good part of its moisture is in the form of liquid water. A fluffy, white cumulus cloud is made of mist. It is a foamy mixture of tiny droplets of liquid water floating in the air. Do not mistake these misty droplets for raindrops, though both are made of liquid water. The smallest raindrop is as big as a pinhead. About 50 droplets of a misty cloud could fit on the point of a pin. And these tiny droplets are as widely separated from each other as are the planets of the solar system.

Clouds Made of Moisture

There is also a certain amount of vapor in every cloud. This invisible water-gas may be in the process of turning into liquid droplets of mist, and the droplets may team up to form silvery raindrops. But in some clouds, the countless numbers of molecules of ice crystallize to form lacy, white snowflakes. All clouds then are made of moisture. They may contain gassy vapor and liquid droplets or icy fragments and unborn snowflakes and some clouds contain a mixture of all these different forms of water.

A list of the ingredients might lead you to think that a cloud is a rather staid and stuffy object. And this is far, far from the truth. Some of its air is cool and some warm, some dry and some damp. These air masses conflict with each other, and a cloud is usually full of swirling breezes blowing up and down and in all directions.

Andy sends a Hammond's Library World Atlas to Stephen Milne, age 11, of Pittsburgh, Pa., for his question:

WHAT IS THE ROSETTA STONE?

Until about 200 years ago, no one knew the language of the ancient Egyptians. Plenty of papyrus scrolls had been found, and plenty of words carved on stone, but no one could decode them. Then in 1799, the Rosetta Stone was found, and the whole problem was solved. It is a black tablet with the same text carved in three different languages.

At the top is the text carved in the picture writing of ancient Egypt. Below it, the same text is translated in Demotic, which was the everyday language of ancient Egypt. At the bottom, the text is translated into Greek, a language which modern scholars can understand. They used the Greek text as a key to decode the two older languages.

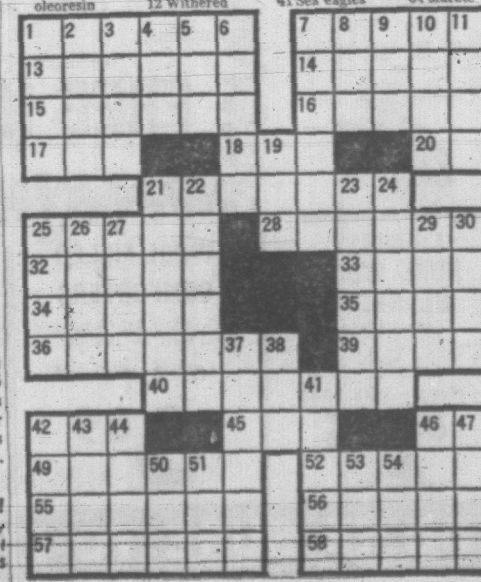

R. W. Siddall, 2815 Lansdowne, was elected president of the Architectural Institute of B.C. at the annual meeting in Vancouver Friday.

Mr. Siddall, principal member of the firm of R. W. Siddall Associates, is a member of the Oak Bay zoning and development planning committee, a director of the Greater Victoria Art Gallery and past president of the Victoria Gyro Club.

MONTE ROBERTS

Any minute now, it will be time to go all around and about, greeting pals, friends, acquaintances and complete strangers, and saying to them:

Merry Christmas.

Or some other equally brilliant and original remark, indicative of the season of goodwill toward men, and even (possibly) peace on earth.

I am all in favor of this annual conversational gambit, and shall be happy to rush around, wishing Merry Christmas to one and all.

With a single exception.

This is a resident of our area whose activity has just been drawn to my attention, and has eliminated him from my list of recipients of the season's compliments.

The resident to whom I refer is male, married, does not beat his wife, and, to the best of my knowledge, is honest, upright, and true.

But he gets no "Merry Christmas" from me.

This man is a hobbyist-type woodworker, with a modest set of power tools.

He likes to doodle with these power tools, and during the course of the year, he scrounges bits of plywood ends before they are thrown on the scrap heap.

And he makes children's playthings from them, such as hobbyhorses and doll's cribs and the like.

He has a wife who knows how to—as my grandmother used to say—"put things down," which she does with great efficiency, producing pickles and spice and all things nice.

His wife also bakes a delectable cake, knows the right side up on a cookie sheet, and the ingredients needed to stuff a turkey.

Once a year, this man and his wife combine their talents.

Through a secret source, they find the name and address of a family in need of a little Christmas cheer, but would never admit it.

And this man and his wife make up a Christmas parcel tailored to the needs of the family chosen from them.

Just prior to Christmas, the whole kit and kaboodle will be delivered to the unsuspecting recipients by an anonymous deliveryman, who will never, never reveal the names of the donors.

Nor will I.

But you can see why I refuse to wish this man a Merry Christmas. There's no need to.

'Won't Repeal' Labor Laws Says Bennett

Full-Time Minister Out of Question

The B.C. government will not repeal any labor legislation nor will it appoint a full-time labor minister, Premier Bennett said today.

He said both the legislation and the double cabinet portfolio of Education-Labor Minister Leslie Peterson are in the best interests of the public and of labor.

The premier firmly rejected Opposition Leader Robert Strachan's call for repeal of Bills 42 and 43, the Trade Union Act and 1961 amendments to the Labor Relations Act. Mr. Strachan, in a speech at Salmon Arm Saturday, had also called for a separate labor minister.

WORKED WELL

"No matter what campaign the CCF leader—or NDP leader—makes against Bills 42 and 43, we won't repeal them," said Mr. Bennett.

"They are there for the interests of everybody and they have worked extremely well." At the same time, the premier added, the government has no intention of introducing any new legislation in line with management requests, such as a right-to-work law.

The premier said Mr. Peterson was, as far as he is concerned, the best labor minister in Canada.

Labor and education had been put together for a purpose.

"BY DESIGN"

That purpose is an attempt to solve what the premier called "the great problem of our age"—the retraining of workers to meet automation.

"We did this by design to help solve this great problem," he said.

Mr. Bennett said he has given up any idea of a private meeting with Jack Moore, president of the International Woodworkers of America in B.C., to thresh out labor-management problems.

Mr. Moore, after initially accepting the invitation, turned him down unless he could bring other labor representatives.

Instead, Mr. Bennett said, the cabinet would meet a B.C. Federation of Labor delegation at 10 a.m. Dec. 19.

The premier said he could not understand what pressure had been brought on Mr. Moore to prevent their meeting.

But it evidently had come from labor leaders with "political accusations."

Accused Admits Pushing Man Out of Truck

Two men were remanded for one week when one of them pleaded guilty today to assault in connection with an incident that occurred a week ago Sunday at Goldstream.

The guilty plea was entered by Barry James Shepard, 3624 Crestview Road. He is alleged to have assaulted Gerhart F. Hansen of Sooke by pushing him out of a truck.

Kenneth S. Hodges, 291 Rosebank, is accused of stabbing Hansen. He was remanded for one week without plea.

The case is being heard by Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

Seven Scouts On V.I. Picked For Jamboree

Seven Boy Scouts from Vancouver Island are among 39 chosen to represent British Columbia at the World Jamboree in Greece during August, 1963.

Accompanied by Scout leader David J. Barker, 3932 Telegraph Bay Road, they will leave Vancouver July 23 to join 400 others at a camp in Ontario.

From there they will fly to Greece. The cost of the trip is paid by the boys.

Scouts going from the Island are David W. H. Allen, 1660 Craigflower Road; Leonard E. Duval, 1815 San Pedro Avenue; and Wayne K. D. Liffert, 340 Stannard Avenue, all of Victoria.

Sean M. Hogan and J. Colin Tassin, both of Duncan; J. David Steenberg, 535 Northumberland Avenue, Nanaimo; and Frederick J. Crowder, 634 Gertrude Street, Alberni.

MAN, MACHINE PLUNGE OVER EDGE OF RAMP

A city construction worker was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital today after driving off a scaffolding in a cement buggy.

Karl Potasinski, 42, of 220 Linden, was admitted with head, arm and shoulder injuries after falling 12 feet.

The accident occurred about 11 a.m. at the site of a new office building on Fort Street near Cook.

City police said Mr. Potasinski was operating a cement buggy used for carrying and pouring wet concrete when his foot hit the accelerator instead of the brake as he neared the edge of the ramp.

He fell with his machine, which may have rolled on him.

Bay Yields Body Of Youth in Car

The body of 20-year-old Douglas C. Helin of Duncan, reported missing a month ago, was recovered Sunday in 30 feet of water at Cowichan Bay.

He was found in the back seat of his submerged car off Government Wharf, about five miles southeast of Duncan.

The body has been sent to Victoria for examination by a pathologist.

RCMP who were still searching for clues which might lead to the whereabouts of Helin, sent two divers, Joe Kucyk and Glen Mackie, both of Duncan, to search the waters-off the wharf.

Kucyk spotted the car and with the help of Mackie brought the body to the surface.

Green 'Jeopardized' Hydro Talks—Bennett

Premier Bennett today accused External Affairs Minister Howard Green of jeopardizing a top-level Columbia power conference with the United States.

He said the meeting had been arranged between himself and Justice Minister Donald Fleming.

It was to come after a round of technical talks, latest of which is to be held in Vancouver this week.

All these meetings were to be kept secret at Mr. Fleming's request, Mr. Bennett said.

But Mr. Green announced in the House of Commons two weeks ago details of the technical talks.

"I was amazed," the premier said.

"I hope these statements by Mr. Green don't interfere with the arrangements."

UNFAIR MOVE

The premier said he objected "very strenuously" to Mr. Green's breach of confidence.

"He had nothing to do with it."

He said Mr. Green was "not playing fair."

The external affairs minister made his announcement shortly after Mr. Bennett had attacked him at an earlier press conference for interfering in the international negotiations for development of the Columbia River.

The premier then had accused Mr. Green of telling U.S. officials to hold out for a better deal because B.C. would back down on its firm line.

LAST SUMMER

Mr. Bennett said he and Mr. Fleming last summer agreed for technical talks between four representatives from B.C. and from Ottawa and U.S. officials.

He and Mr. Fleming were then to hold a "summit" meeting with the Americans to wind up the deal.

The deal would be for financing the Columbia project and disposal of its downstream benefits in the U.S.

Mr. Bennett wants to sell the benefits for enough money to pay for the three dams B.C. would build on the Columbia plus generators at Mica Creek, the biggest one.

Trio Robs Man In Beach Attack

Assailant Swings Cast-Encased Arm

A 52-year-old man was beaten and robbed early Sunday morning after giving three men, believed to be soldiers, a lift in his car.

William Magee, 1320 Pandora, was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital after being found by Esquimalt police at a gravel bank on Kinver Beach.

He had been bludgeoned and kicked in the face and head.

His wallet, containing $105 was missing.

Mrs. Magee told the Times she had only been able to get a few details as her husband was not able to talk much after the beating.

25 STITCHES

He was given 25 stitches for cuts to the head, and was reported "stiff and sore" this morning.

Mr. Magee was stopped in Chinatown by three men requesting a ride to Esquimalt at about 2 a.m., Mrs. Magee said.

They identified themselves as soldiers, and said they wanted to get to Work Point Barracks "the back way."

Mrs. Magee said one got into the front seat of the car with her husband while the two others got in the back.

CAST ON ARM

They directed Mr. Magee down Lampson Street to the gravel bank at Kinver Beach. There the attack took place.

"One of the men in the back apparently had a cast on his arm," Mrs. Magee said.

"He hit my husband on the head with the cast, and then they dragged him out of the car and started kicking him in the face and all over."

They then robbed him of his wallet containing $105 and identification. He had just been paid that day.

RAN OFF

"My husband started screaming and fighting back, so they must have got scared and run off without taking his watch," Mrs. Magee said.

She said they also left $2 and some silver in his pocket.

Mrs. Magee said she had a premonition that something was wrong.

"I lay awake in bed tossing and turning all night, and wondering why," she said. "I was really scared when he had not come home by 2 o'clock."

Although the men said they were soldiers, they were not in uniform.

However, military police are co-operating in searching for the assailants.

Pressure Level Zooms As Students Bear Down

By LESLIE MILLIN

Times College Correspondent

Beards and bleary eyes are the uniform of the day at Victoria College today as students enter their last day of preparation for Christmas examinations.

Starting Tuesday, exams are scheduled three times daily until Dec. 22, Saturdays included.

They are all two-hour examinations, following the pattern set last year, to allow the three-daily schedule.

Precautions have been taken to prevent students from having to write more than two examinations per day.

Lectures, which ended Saturday, resume Jan. 7.

'JOIN A CHOIR AND GET A JOB'

He Sang His Way Into Farming

Victoria's oldest veteran of the South African War is probably John James Abbott—a lively 95 years of age today.

The eyes are bright and keen and the memory clear as he looks back over the years to the time when he joined the British Army Medical Corps in 1899 and sailed with an ambulance team to Cape Town.

"It was aboard the first ambulance train to Ladysmith," said Mr. Abbott, "and we remained there until after the relief of Mafeking."

At his home at 15 Cambridge, off the Dallas Road, Mr. Abbott produced old photos and news clippings which prove his versatility.

In his time he has been farmer, singer, cricketer, boxer and boot manufacturer—and he still engages in cooking and gardening, when the weather is "Victorian."

FARMING BEST

A farmer most of his life, he now owns 320 acres of fertile cropland near Grenfell, Saskatchewan.

"The farm has been under management since I retired to Victoria 25 years ago," he said, "but I continue to receive a fair income from it."

"If I had my time over again, I'd still be a farmer. It's the best life in the world for a man and the most natural."

Yet Mr. Abbott knew nothing of farming until he came to Canada in 1909. He was born and raised in the boot-manufacturing town of Higham Ferrers, Northamptonshire, and worked for local firms before and after service in the South African War.

CRICKETER

Faded photos of a tall young man with black handlebar moustaches recall that Mr. Abbott was then a leading cricketer, batting and bowling for Higham Ferrers in many a battle with neighboring teams.

His bass-baritone was heard in local choirs and he took this talent with him to Saskatchewan.

"The first thing I did on arriving in Grenfell was to join a church choir," he said. "That's the way to get to know people in Canada, and soon after, I got a job on a farm."

GOOD AND BAD

"Over the next two years, I learned every mortal thing I could about farming. Then

Election Gears Start Shifting Into Top Range

By JOHN MIKA

One of Victoria's quietest civic elections on record began moving today—in slow motion.

Busiest sector of the election front was returning officer Frank Hunter's office where some 85 workers were being lined up for the Thursday balloting.

They will man the polling booths between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. while voters troop to the former Victoria Ballroom, northwest corner of Government and Cormorant, to cast their votes.

After polls close the work force will count the ballots.

Also busy are officials connected with the $950,000 Centennial Victoria Square civic precinct bylaw.

CLACK TO SPEAK

City planner Roderick Clack, who designed the precinct, was scheduled to address the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Association tonight at 8:30 in the War Amps' Hall on Oak Bay Avenue.

About 500 invitations also were sent out this morning to residents of Victoria West to attend a public meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Victoria West School to hear the precinct plan's details.

MAYOR IN CHAIR

Mayor R. B. Wilson will be chairman of the Tuesday meeting.

Ald. A. W. Toone and Ald. Arthur Dowell, members of the precinct committee who are running for re-election, will outline the full program and present color slides to illustrate their points.

Meanwhile the first campaign statement by an aldermanic candidate was issued.

Cecil Parrott, one of seven candidates for four council seats, strongly supported the civic precinct and urged a favorable ratepayers vote.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Weekly film showing in the Music Room at the Victoria Public Library from 3 to 4 this Wednesday will feature the following films:

Kumak the Sleepy Hunter: Puppet figures act out an old legend about a sleepy hunter who gained a wife and a fortune, then lost them both through his wife's curiosity and his own inability to keep a secret.

Energetically Yours: A color cartoon which goes back into pre-historic to trace man's insatiable drive to find the easy way.

Scottish Highlands: A journey by bus into the Highlands of Scotland, showing places of scenic beauty and points of historic interest.

Old Age Pensioners' Association, Victoria No. 1, will meet Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Legion Hall, 1616 Blanshard Street.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Could you please tell me what the building, known today as the Protestant Orphanage, was originally built for? What year was it built? D.W.G.

A.—The building was constructed to be an orphan's home. The corner stone was laid in 1891 and construction was completed in 1893.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question alone to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve complex or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Leslie Vagel, 21, of 1809 Crescent, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital with head injuries following an accident at View and Vancouver Saturday night.

Mr. Vagel was driving west on View when he was involved in a collision with another car driven north on Vancouver by James Robinson, 1319 Vimy, about 9:40 p.m.

Fay Vagel, 18, a passenger in the westbound car, also was taken to hospital but was not admitted.

Finishing touches are being made to the new $300,000 B.C. Telephone Co. division headquarters and plant centre at McKenzie and Quadra and occupancy is scheduled for mid-January.

Island division manager G. C. Campbell said the move to the new headquarters will relieve congestion at the Blanshard Street telephone building.

There are three buildings on the 4½-acre site—administration and engineering, plant offices and storage and a garage.

A long-dormant plan to turn an area behind stores in the 700 Block Yates Street, between Yates and View, into a covered pedestrian mall has been reactivated with the imminent opening of the View Street civic parking building.

A committee of the 700 Block Yates Association is drawing up preliminary plans for the project which would provide a completely covered area between parking building and stores, with the exception of the street crossing. The area would be refurbished by painting stores and with planters.

Canadian Red Cross Society will have its blood donor clinics open on Tuesday from 2:30 to 4:30 and 7 to 9:30 at the Red Cross House, 1046 Fort Street; on Wednesday from 9 a.m. to noon, and 1 to 4 p.m. at the Legislative Buildings; and on Thursday at the same time at HMC Dockyard.

James Scollar, no-fixed address, who earlier last week admitted he stole two sweaters from a downtown store, was sentenced Saturday to eight months in Oakalla jail. Value of the sweaters was $31.90.

Royal Canadian Legion, Ex-Servicemen's Branch No. 182, will hold a bingo tonight at 7:45 in the Britannia Auditorium, 1616 Blanshard St.

Officers will be elected at the annual meeting of Esquimalt Golden Age Club, Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Jubilee Hall on Fraser Street. Tea will be served.

A car was stolen off the lot of Unity Used Cars, 854 Pandora, overnight Friday and 14 sets of keys to other models were taken from the office.

The thief broke into the office and ransacked it before finding the keys which were hidden. Nothing else was taken.

No Rub-a-Dub With Three Tablets In a Tub

By PENNY SAVER

Monday seems like the logical day to mention a new soap that has just appeared on the market. Besides, it will take your mind off all the Christmas shopping that remains to be done.

My friend Mary, who has three small children and consequently an abundant daily washing, tried this new soap for me and submitted a favorable report.

First of all, the soap comes in what the manufacturers call tablets, but to me, they look more like hot biscuits that forgot to rise. No doubt they call them tablets because it is easier to talk about quantities in these terms rather than referring to so many hot biscuits.

Call them what you like, at least you realize the size they are and you add three to a wash. Packages of three are individually wrapped in each box. Boxes come in small, medium and large with the medium price, 91 cents.

I thought this must be a very expensive way to buy soap, but, budget-conscious Mary carefully reviewed the prices of other soaps on the shelf and after comparing the prices with the weights, she found the price comparable to other soaps on the market.

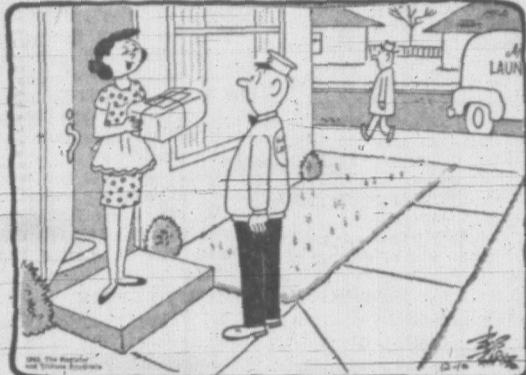

One of the advantages of this product is that there is no measuring, no spilling and no waste. Just pop three tablets in the tub and they immediately dissolve and start to work. They make plenty of suds without the worry of overflowing. As for double-duty action and other adjectives used to describe soap, Mary reported the clothes were clean without any extra scrubbing so I concluded that it passed cleansing power test.

One more feature Mary enjoyed was the pleasant faint perfume which lingered on the clothes while they were drying. There is always a pleasant smell to fresh laundry, but now you can have freshness plus a touch of fragrance.

To find out what it is and where it is phone Penny at 382-3131.

THE BETTER HALI

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Exercise Is Sure-Cure for Nervous Tension Exhaustion

Nervous tension is a deceiver because it can make you feel absolutely exhausted physically. When you feel exhausted from pressures or concentrated mental effort or from emotional turmoil, there is nothing which is such a sure-fire refresher and cure as exercise.

I know how you feel because I have been caught in that trap myself. Only recently I had been writing copy all day long. "My husband came home and said, 'How about a walk?' I said, 'Oh, brother, that's all I need.' I just want to lie down for a bit before dinner" knowing full well that what I really needed was some fresh air and exercise.

So, lured by my knowledge and past experience of the value of exercise, by my husband's companionship and by the gorgeous late afternoon sunshine which would soon turn into a beautiful sunset, I put on my walking shoes and we went for a brisk three-mile walk. I must admit that to get going I had to pull myself up by my bootstraps, or rather my heels, since I do not wear boots when writing copy.

After, about a half-mile I felt more like dancing than walking. The sparkling air, the increase in circulation and respiration, the lovely countryside, the good feeling of muscles working smoothly, banished all my feeling of fatigue and I slept like a baby that night.

And, don't let the weather be an alibi for not exercising! A walk can be wonderful even in cold weather, if you dress for it. If the elements are too hectic to go outdoors for your exercise, put on some records and exercise inside. Here's a good one to use: Stand erect with the feet a comfortable distance apart, arms raised sideways. Bend over to the left. As you bend, raise the right arm upward and hold it close to the ear. Straighten the trunk, returning arms to the shoulder height position. Bend over to the right, raising the left arm up and close to the ear. Raise the trunk and return arms to the shoulder height position.

If you would like to have my short routine planned especially for women, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Ban All Visitors!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor's father is a retired gentleman of about 75. He is very friendly and likes to visit the neighbors, but he doesn't shut his mouth. When we go out in the evening, we hire a 17-year-old girl to sit with the children. This old gent comes over in our absence and talks the poor girl's ear off. She has complained to us, but we don't know how to handle it. We hate to tell the lonely old man to stay away, and I suppose his daughter is glad to get him out of the house. Can you or any of your readers help me?

A PUZZLEMENT:
DEAR PUZZLEMENT: The old gentleman is probably a little senile. Tell his daughter that you have left instructions with your sister that no one is permitted in the house when she is sitting—and this includes her father. She'll get the message.

DEAR ABBY: I have six children. The oldest is 9. Today I found a note in her pocket. It was from a little boy (he is 10 or 11) who wrote he "loved" her and wanted to know if she "loved" him, too. Should I overlook the incident or do you think that I should tell her the facts of life? I felt that she was too young until I read the note today.

When I was 9, I had no one to tell me the facts of life, and can't recall if I was curious then. But I do know that when my mother finally got around to telling me, I had already picked up a lot of information the wrong way. I don't want that to happen to my daughter. How much should a 9-year-old be told today?

INFORMATION PLEASE:
DEAR INFORMATION: When your daughter becomes curious about "the facts of life," she will initiate the conversation. Answer every question frankly and without embarrassment. But don't bring the subject up until she does.

DEAR ABBY: The fellow who has been dating me is getting on my nerves. He perspires a lot and when he breathes he breathes so heavy it drives me mad. I have asked other people if they can hear him breathing, and they say no. But I can hear every breath, and it makes me nervous. I know he can't help perspiring, but his hands get clammy when we dance and it bothers me. Should I tell him the truth about why I don't like him or should I just find somebody else?

BOTHERED:
DEAR BOTHERED: Find someone else, honey. If you really cared for him, his "breathing" would become "sighs" and his perspiring would indicate "happy excitement." He is not for you—but someone else will think he's great.

DEAR ABBY: Do you know if a cow has to have a calf first in order to give milk or can she produce milk before she has a calf?

ROSE, TESS, MARCIA AND HELEN:
DEAR R. T. M. AND H.: Yes, a cow must "calf" first in order to give milk.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FORT WORTH: True, "Beauty is only skin deep," but if a girl is poor and a little on the stupid side, she's lucky to have it!

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Party for Suzanne McElmoyle

Mrs. W. A. McElmoyle was hostess at a tea hour party on Saturday at her Rockland Avenue home, in honor of her daughter, Miss Suzanne McElmoyle, who is to be married later this month. Pink roses, miniature white chrysanthemums and white candles decorated the tea table.

Mrs. G. B. B. Buffam, Mrs. R. S. Conn, Mrs. Jack Corry, Mrs. L. Pope, Mrs. R. B. Horton and Mrs. E. C. Lewis presided and assisting in serving guests were Mrs. W. P. McElmoyle, Mrs. John Spriggs, and the Misses Jennifer Conn, Barbara Reilly, Joan Moffat, Judy Pope and Barbara Watkins.

Assisting Mrs. McElmoyle as a hostess was another daughter, Mrs. John A. Rowland, who has come from Dartmouth, N.S., with her two small daughters, Suzanne and Jennifer, for the holiday season and wedding. Lieut. Rowland will join his family here next week.

Home for Holidays

Mr. Norman D. Isherwood is here from University of Denver to spend the holiday season with his mother, Mrs. Norman Isherwood, Cotswold Road. Arriving at a later date are Mrs. Isherwood's son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Henry (Grace Isherwood) with their children, Elizabeth Anne and Hughie, from Colorado Springs, Colo.

Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Newland Phillips, 2595 Cook Street, who are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary, will be "at home" to friends on Wednesday from 2 to 5 p.m., and again from 7 to 10 p.m. They were married in First Baptist Church, in 1912, by Rev. J. B. Warnicker. Assisting them on Wednesday will be three daughters, Mrs. A. R. (Pearl) Coleman, Mrs. F. C. (Gladys) Pearce and Mrs. D. F. (Gwenyth) McKinnon, all of Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips also have six grandsons and one granddaughter living here.

Mrs. Fairburn, the hostess

Aunt Gives the Bride A Horseshoe for Luck

As Mr. and Mrs. James Walter Gilbert left the church following their wedding the bride's aunt, Mrs. G. Long, slipped a horseshoe covered with satin ribbons and heather over the arm of the bride, an old good luck custom.

The bride, Sandra Ann Carlow is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jason Carlow, 2607 Selwyn Road and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Gilbert, 560 Latorn Road.

A bowl of white and yellow chrysanthemums was on the altar table in Metropolitan United Church for the ceremony. Baskets were filled with bronze and yellow chrysanthemums. Rev. Laura Butler officiated. During signing of the register, the organist, Eric Boothroy, played "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over nylon net. Panels of net on the bouffant skirt were caught with lace roses and tiers of net and lace created a bustle effect at the back. Her veil of illusion net misted from a coronet of pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible, gift of her parents, and red rosebuds tied with white ribbon streamers.

Matron of honor, Mrs. R. Renfrew, sister of the bride, wore a gown of beige nylon over taffeta with gold lame bodice and toning hat and veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Senior bridesmaid, Miss Joanne Taylor, wore a green taffeta sheath dress with full overskirt and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Two junior bridesmaids, Miss Janice Carlow, sister of the bride, and Miss Judy Gilbert, sister of the groom, wore similarly styled gold dresses and carried bouquets of peach-toned flowers. A third junior bridesmaid, another sister of the bride, Miss Velda Carlow, wore a peach dress and carried pink roses. All attendants wore matching white feathered hats.

Flower girl, Terry Thompson, niece of the bride, wore a pale blue nylon frock and a bandeau of apple blossoms and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and blue ribbon streamers.

Wayne Wenstob was best man. Ushers were Ricky Long, Bud McCulloch, Gary Wenstob and Wes Papke.

Uncle of the bride, George Long, proposed the toast at a reception in the home of the bride's parents. Vases of red rosebuds, ferns and white candles decorated the bride's table with a two-tier wedding cake.

Leaving for a honeymoon in State of Washington the bride donned a black wool suit with green flecks, green hat and gloves, black patent leather accessories and a corsage of apple blossoms. On return the newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

Here from San Jose, Calif., for the wedding, was Mrs. Chris Carey, sister of the bride.

The engagement has been announced of Ruth Mabel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Ford, 901 Lavender Ave., to Mr. Alex Victor Romynuk, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Romynuk of Port Moody, B.C. The wedding will take place on Saturday, January 12 at 7:30 p.m. in St. Martin's in the Field Church on Obed Avenue. Archdeacon J. W. Forth will officiate.

Lodge to Mark 75th Anniversary

Tuesday evening Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1, Independent Order of Odd Fellows will celebrate its 75th anniversary with a banquet in Odd Fellows Hall. Mrs. Gordon Fairburn, noble grand, will preside. President and officers of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia have been invited to attend.

The lodge, formed on December 15, 1887, was the first to be instituted in Canada west of the Great Lakes. Many well-known Victoria family names were among those listed as the 49 charter members.

Charter was granted by Joshua Davies, grand master, and Fred Davey, grand secretary.

Sisters Florence Scandling Mary Stelly, Lillian Savory and Ethel Dunn, four of the present membership of 200, each have more than 50 years continuous membership.

The lodge still meets in the Odd Fellows Hall on Douglas Street which was built in 1879 and is one of the oldest buildings in the city.

Charter creating the Rebekah degree for wives of members of the IOOF was granted in 1850 after being recommended by patriarch Schuyler Colfax in 1849.

Chapter Coffee Party

Holiday season gaiety was evident on Saturday morning in the Upper Terrace home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Barnes, when members of Robert Burns McKicking Chapter, IOOE, held their annual coffee party.

Entrance hall was decorated with a white Christmas tree, trimmed in silver and blue. Holly and red candles were in the living room and the refreshment table was centred with attractive bowl of holly, white poinsettias and pyracantha berries, with white candles in silver holders.

Guests were received by Mrs. Barnes and the chapter regent, Mrs. A. W. Flinton. Presiding at the coffee and tea urns were Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah, Mrs. J. L. Gates and Mrs. Owen Fowler.

Convener of the event was Mrs. A. McFarlane. Assisting in serving the many guests were Mrs. W. Woodley, Mrs. E. Napper, Mrs. N. Smith, Mrs. S. E. Heald, Mrs. Ida Major and the Misses Christine MacNab, Agnes Stewart, Mary Wooliams and Kay Shaw.

A Christmas home cooking stall was in charge of Mrs. John Church, assisted by Mrs. Vi Edwards and Mrs. B. Polard.

Christmas Trees Invade Holyrood House

You couldn't see Holyrood House for trees—Christmas trees, that is—when the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society held their annual Christmas tea, Saturday afternoon.

Individual tables sparkled with miniature silvered trees, decked with tiny colorful baubles. A tall tree, posed in a white urn dominated the stage, banked by others in varying sizes.

Presiding at the head table which was centred with a silver bowl containing a tree and red-bowled holly were Mrs. G. Inglis and Mrs. M. Stephen. Red candles in silver candelabra completed decor.

Affair was opened by Alderman Lily Wilson who was introduced by Mrs. J. Dirom, wife of the society's president. General conveners were Mrs. J. R. Marrs and Mrs. George Gunniss.

Hostesses were Mrs. G. Dakers and Mrs. J. Anderson. Tea included pancakes, shortbread and other Scottish delicacies.

Completing the holiday air was a program of well-loved carols, sung by Mrs. Vera Barclay's junior choir.

In next to no time, oatcakes, scones, shortbread, home-made salad dressing and other items were sold at home-cooking stall convened by Mrs. H. Shephard.

Mrs. J. Berwick and Mrs. C. Cameron.

90th Birthday Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Manson and their two children, Sara and John, came from the mainland recently to be present at celebrations marking the 90th birthday of Mrs. Manson's aunt, Miss Adela Mortimer. Miss Mortimer has lived at Rose Manor for the past 17 years. The visitors helped Miss Mortimer receive her many guests. Refreshments were served in one of the sunrooms.

Miss Georgie MacKay, Mrs. B. W. Dysart and Mrs. G. Dakers were kept bustling as guests flocked around a fast-dwindling apron stall.

And, of course, it was "Santa" himself who came to draw raffle and door prizewinners!

Busy serviteurs were Mrs. N. Hadden, Mrs. M. Milligan, Mrs. J. Irwin, Mrs. M. Bowman, Mrs. M. Kemp, Mrs. E. Doidge and the Misses Ann Kemp, Cathie Cuthbert, Janette Milligan and Valerie Kemp.

Helping in the kitchen were Mrs. J. Stewart, Mrs. E. Robertson, Mrs. V. Scott, Mrs. J. McAuley, Mrs. H. Robertson, Mrs. M. Fairfull, Mrs. L. Galley, Mrs. M. Scott, Mrs. J. Marrs and Mrs. C. Carnegie.

Change of Date The pre-Christmas dinner arranged by the Old Age Pensioners Group, No. 5, for next Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in St. Paul's Church hall, is to be held instead on Tuesday at the same time and place. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. J. Bennett, EV 2-2200.

In London Overseas visitors who have signed the register in London's British Columbia House in the past week include Miss Beryl M. Bevan, SRN, Mr. Bill Atkinson, Miss Wendy Dalzell and Miss Patricia L. Butler, all of Victoria.

ONE HUNDRED ON SUNDAY, Archdeacon Frank Cornish receives birthday greetings from Susie Patterson, 5, of 2810 Tudor Road—one of hundreds who congratulated him at ceremony in St. John Anglican Church. Archdeacon Cornish was ordained in 1901 and spent most of his ministry on the prairies before coming to Victoria in 1939. He received telegrams from the Queen, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Lt.-Governor George Pearkes, Premier Bennett and others.

Research Commission Seeks New Industry

Greater Victoria Industrial research commission has launched a drive to bring more industry to this area, commission chairman Ald. A. W. Toone said Friday.

"The formation sought by the commission deals with general areas in which goods are bought and sold by business houses throughout Greater Victoria," Mr. Toone said.

Local firms will be asked to co-operate by giving answers to a questionnaire which will be circulated shortly.

Mr. Toone said the commission hopes to find new markets for local products in this area, or elsewhere on Vancouver Island, and to encourage industry to come in and fill existing "blank spots."

"We're not looking for heavy industry such as pulp mills. What is needed here is light industry producing specialty items."

"This would be more in keeping with our location, which requires shipping of goods to the mainland."

The commission is working on the assumption that expansion of local industry will provide more jobs and spark new life in the economy of Greater Victoria.

New Home Possible For Maritime Museum

The B.C. government is considering the erection of a building in Victoria to house British Columbia's Maritime Museum, Victoria Chamber of Commerce directors were informed Friday.

Lieut.-Col. M. A. Kent said he and Major H. Cuthbert Holmes talked with Public Works Minister W. N. Chant about the need for better accommodation for the museum, now located in Esquimalt.

Mr. Chant said he had in mind a site south of Superior Street. He felt the museum should be built in a style similar to that of the Legislative Buildings.

WRITE TO PREMIER

Chamber directors voted to write to Premier Bennett urging this development.

In other business, directors resolved that defeat of the Saanich amalgamation referendum will not cancel out the chamber's study of amalgamation prospects.

They agreed that the chamber's amalgamation committee should continue to operate as a standing committee and amass whatever facts and figures it can.

(On Thursday Saanich electors voted 55 per cent "against" on the question of whether they favored amalgamation with Victoria.)

The directors also discussed the problem of smoke-producing lumber mill waste.

Courtney Haddock said the problem may be solved by the Victoria lumber mill industry on its own. Hog fuel from Victoria lumber mills may be burned to produce electricity for use in the forest industries.

For that reason, Mr. Haddock said, he had halted a survey requested by chamber directors on prospects of hog fuel being burned to generate electricity for the city.

YOU CAN HELP

Post Office Set For 10% Upsurge

Victoria Post Office is anticipating an increase of about 10 per cent over last year's record Christmas mailings.

It asks the mailing public to follow these suggestions for secure mailing:

1. Separate your Christmas cards into their destinations, either "local" or "out of town." Tie them in bundles, using the green and white labels issued. Mail before deadline dates.
2. All parcels should be of strong material, such as double-faced corrugated cardboard. They should be wrapped in heavy paper and tied securely with strong twine. Make sure the address on each parcel is complete and clear, and that it has a return address. Customs declarations must be attached to all parcels going to the U.S.A.
3. Bring your Christmas card mailing list up-to-date. Remember almost a third of the population changes its address every year.
4. Save time when buying stamps by being early and purchasing $1 cello packs. Ask for the cello packs when buying 50 two-cent stamps or 20 five-cent stamps.
5. To avoid congestion at the main office, use the sub-post office in your district whenever possible.

Tragedy Cuts Short Holiday Trip

VANCOUVER (CP)—A young mother of two was reported flying back to her home here Sunday after her Christmas trip to England ended with the tragic news of her husband's death in a traffic mishap.

Mrs. June Hall had taken her two children, Jane, 7, and infant Catherine, to England to visit relatives they had never seen. They had expected to return January 3.

The trip was suddenly cut short early Sunday by the news that Mrs. Hall's husband, Alex Brian, 31, had been fatally injured in a two-car collision in Vancouver.

Police said Hall was driving his small car home after spending the evening with friends when a large vehicle, travelling on the wrong side of the road, smashed into his auto. He died en route to hospital.

Friends of the Halls said the two parents had both worked and saved for eight years to save enough money for the trip to England.

Ex-Brandon Man Buried Thursday

Funeral will take place on Thursday for John R. Brodie, 83, who died Saturday in Phoenix, Arizona.

Born in Montreal, Mr. Brodie lived in Brandon, Man., before coming to live in Victoria seven years ago. He founded the Great West Coal Company in Brandon.

He is survived by the widow, Edna; a son, Malcolm, and three grandchildren.

Funeral service will be at 3 p.m. Thursday at Sands Mortuary.

Japan Students Riot

TOKYO (AP)—About 3,500 leftist Zengakuren students clashed with 1,500 riot police Sunday in a street demonstration opposing a government plan to tighten control of state-run universities in Kyoto. Police said seven policemen were injured. The demonstrators claimed 21 students were injured during the four-hour melee in Kyoto, 350 miles southwest of Tokyo.

AMONG ELDERLY IN OAK BAY

Reading Habit Survey Proposed

An Oak Bay investigation of elderly persons' reading habits has been recommended by Coun. Allan Cox as a means of determining what extra library facilities are needed.

He was commenting on discussion of a Greater Victoria library service survey conducted by UBC librarian Miss Rose Vainstein, presented to council Monday.

The councillor said he felt a modest book service might fill the needs of Oak Bay readers, who already contribute a proportionately large sum to library services.

According to Miss Vainstein's report, branch libraries should be established in Oak Bay and Esquimalt, and population should be considered as a basis for financial support.

"I see nothing wrong with the circulation basis (of financing)," Coun. Cox said.

S. Korea Press Hit

ZURICH (AP)—The International Press Institute threatened Saturday to expel its South Korean committee unless press freedom is restored in South Korea. The institute, a private organization of editors throughout the free world, said "all available evidence indicates a total disregard for the freedom of the press by the South Korean authorities."

He thought financing by

Practical Way

He said this seemed the practical way of doing it because cost would be spread among more users, and under the present system it would allow greater circulation of a particular volume of books.

If full-scale branch libraries are established, it could mean they would be in a competitive position, he pointed out.

One of the arguments used in favor of branches is convenience for students and elderly people, the councillor said.

"I didn't think a branch would assist students at all because it wouldn't provide reference facilities. That's what students need and want. They get enough fiction as it is."

The university, soon will have library facilities of its own, leaving only a large group of elderly persons.

Sudden Increase

"I doubt if many use reference facilities. This may be unfair; I'm not asserting this as fact," he said, in suggesting the survey of elderly reading habits.

UN GIVES ULTIMATUM TO KATANGA LEADER

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—The United Nations demanded today that Katanga permit UN troops free movement within the secessionist province and lift the Katangese blockade of UN supply trains from Southern Rhodesia.

Some quarters said the demand, made in a letter to Katanga President Moïse Tshombe, was a virtual ultimatum, threatening sanctions against the wealthy province by UN members if Tshombe failed to comply.

Black Box Inspection 'Inadequate' to West

WIRE BRIEFS

Mediation Fails

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal mediators tried in vain today to budge the labor impasse that has shut down all nine daily newspapers in this city of 8,000,000 persons. (See story Page 12.)

Voting Day Cloudy

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Cloudy and damp weather, the kind that plagued Prince Edward Island farmers this year, greeted voters in the island province this morning.

Market Talks

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—Edward Heath, Britain's chief European Common Market negotiator, today began a crucial three-day meeting with market ministers who were expected to have decided to stand firm on their attitude to British agriculture.

German Lawyer Free

BONN, West Germany (AP)—Lawyer Josef Augstein, brother of Der Spiegel publisher Rudolf Augstein, was released from custody today, the weekly magazine's Bonn office reported.

Augstein was arrested last Tuesday on a warrant alleging he helped persuade a defence ministry colonel to reveal state secrets to his brother's news magazine, Der Spiegel.

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union offered today to install three "international" operated robot devices on Soviet territory to police a ban on underground nuclear tests.

Western spokesman said the offer of three "black boxes" was totally inadequate.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference the Soviet Union would permit international inspectors to service the devices and remove the automatically-recorded tapes of earth tremors.

The Soviet offer was first put forward—apparently by mistake—in a press conference given Friday by Soviet spokesman Alexei Roshchin. Roshchin told reporters Tsarapkin had made the offer and then denied it. All spokesmen agreed that the Soviet delegate finally made the firm offer at today's two-hour conference session.

The Western powers maintain the black boxes can serve only as an auxiliary detection method and can never fully replace manned control posts and on-site inspections.

Western officials said Tsarapkin's offer of one monitor in each of the Soviet Union's three main earthquake regions was completely inadequate even as an auxiliary system. The West believes at least 100 would be necessary inside the Soviet Union.

Sales Effort Scores

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's first government-sponsored sales mission to the United States has netted more than $1,000,000 worth of definite orders, it was announced today.

CRACKDOWN ON REBELS

U.K. Troops Take Airstrip

(CP from Reuters-AP)

BRUNEI TOWN, Brunei—British troops recaptured the airstrip at rebel-held Seria today and advanced on the oil town where some 400 Europeans were reported held prisoner by the rebels.

Brig. J. B. A. Glennie, commander of the British force in the British-protected sultanate of Brunei, said the situation was "looking very much better now" although 400 Europeans were prisoners in Seria.

Glennie also said a crackdown on the homes of members of the outlawed rebel Rakyat party has begun here. He said several arrests have been made.

"We have taken a good deal of incriminating evidence," Glennie said.

The Anduki airfield at Seria was in rebel hands for three days until it was recaptured by 200 British Queen's Own Highlanders who landed on a nearby golf course.

Later a further 600 Highlanders landed on air strip, which was reported firmly in

GUERRILLA CAMPAIGN PLANNED

MANILA (AP)—Sheik A. M. Azahari said Sunday his Borneo rebels will retreat into the jungles and wage guerrilla warfare in the event British troops force them out of the towns.

The fight will go on for 20 years if necessary, the Indonesian-educated lawyer told reporters in this capital of The Philippines.

"Borneo will never be peaceful until our government is recognized by Britain," Azahari said.

First Class For Douks — Bennett

The B.C. government will give Sons of Freedom Doukhobor leaders a first-class expenses-paid trip to Ottawa in an effort to solve their problems, Premier Bennett promised today.

He said they could stay at the Chateau Laurier — Ottawa's swankiest hotel—and would get first-class plane or rail tickets.

He said his office was trying to contact Freedomite leaders now camped at Hope to find out who wants to go east and when.

'FAIR AND JUST'

This is an answer to a telegram signed by two Freedomites Sunday taking the premier up on an offer he made to the 49 who came to Victoria and stayed overnight on the steps of the legislative buildings.

The telegram was signed by Harry Gevatkoff and Fred Shebina.

It said the Freedomites were prepared to send a delegation east to seek formation of a special committee to study Doukhobor problems and seek "a fair and just solution."

Wheat Talks With Reds Under Way

EDMONTON (CP)—Negotiations are under way for long-term deals with five Communist-bloc countries which could mean the annual sales of 50,000,000 bushels of wheat, Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton said today.

The five countries are Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Hungary.

"What we are saying to them is this: You use your grain for feed to build up your livestock industry. We'll supply you with grain for food. Their agriculture ministers like the idea."

Mr. Hamilton said in an interview such deals would allow for long-range planning and diversification of supply by these countries would be to their advantage.

He had no comment concerning reports of a new major wheat deal with Communist China. He said he will make an announcement in parliament "when the opportunity arises."

Chou Hails Kashmir Negotiations

PEKING (Reuters)—Red Chinese premier Chou En-lai today welcomed forthcoming negotiations between India and Pakistan over Kashmir and expressed the wish they would achieve positive results.

He was making the first public Chinese reaction to news of the agreement to hold the talks over the area disputed by India and Pakistan.

Nehru Rejects Chinese Terms

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today Red China's cease-fire and withdrawal manoeuvre may be only a trick and warned his front-line troops that fighting might flare up again in the Himalayas.

The Indian leader delivered his warning in a radio address after rejecting Peking's terms for settlement of the border conflict.

Nehru offered in parliament to refer the frontier dispute to the International Court of Justice if China withdraws from India's territory.

Later he made his radio address to Indian soldiers telling them to be prepared for a long struggle.

Nehru told Parliament India continues to demand that the Chinese withdraw to the positions held Sept. 8. China has called this "utterly unacceptable."

Nehru warned "this war may last five years or more but I feel confident we shall win."

He called on the Indian people for "determination to refuse to bow down to the imperialist tactics of China whatever happens." He said the survival of Indian freedom is at stake.

Nehru also had words for the six non-aligned nations meeting in Ceylon in a search of a solution to the India-China conflict.

"I trust they will remember there can be no compromise with expanding militarism," he said.

RENEW FIGHTING?

Nehru's rejection of the Chinese demands raised a strong possibility of renewed fighting. Nehru was cheered when he said India "has been forced to the conclusion the words of the Chinese government cannot be relied upon."

The prime minister said the last five years have shown that the Chinese change their interpretation of the border with circumstances.

In Colombo, meanwhile, Ghana proposed to the six-nation conference that India and Red China negotiate an "area of disengagement" for cease-fire purposes, and then work out a border settlement.

The Ghana delegate said if the two countries could not agree, the six non-aligned countries should arrange the disengagement and then make recommendations for a border settlement.

The six nations are the United Arab Republic, Ghana, Continued on Page 6

A BORE, SAYS U.K. PAPER

Dief Annoys Mac By 'Horning In'

LONDON (CP)—The Sunday newspaper The People carries a report saying Prime Minister Macmillan is "irritated" by Canadian Prime Minister Diefenbaker's move in "inviting himself" to the British leader's Bahamas conference with U.S. President Kennedy later this month.

An anonymous column written under the name Cyclops says Macmillan "seldom shows petulance" but his "distaste for bores explains his little outburst of irritation last week."

"He made little attempt to conceal his annoyance over the manner in which Mr. Diefenbaker contrived to get a place in the coming Bahamas talks."

The report says that although it is customary for Canadian prime ministers to get a hearing when British prime ministers talk to American presidents, "enquiries among the prime minister's entourage confirmed that this omission was no mere oversight."

"Mr. Macmillan bears no ill-will towards Mr. Diefenbaker for his anti-Common Market speech at the Commonwealth conference in September. But Mr. Diefenbaker's conversation does weary Mr. Macmillan."

Although the official announcement says it is traditional for Canadian prime ministers to be invited, the report concludes, "it did not point out that Mr. Diefenbaker had been left to invite himself."

Centennial Flashback . . .

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

DECEMBER 10

Municipal taxes were passed today by the city council and will become law as soon as the bylaws defining the methods in which they are to be collected have been drawn up and passed.

The auction sale of Messrs. Quarles & Co.'s large stock of jewelry was very well attended yesterday and the auctioneer, Mr. Welch, said today the bidding will continue tomorrow. He said the articles will still be put up singly or in small lots to suit private purchasers.

The steamer Union put into Cedar Hill Bay last night due to the squally appearance of the weather, it was reported today.

The government road to the district of Metochin has been accomplished with satisfying results. A good bridge path now exists the whole way and a wagon can be driven without experiencing any difficulty as far as Mr. Weir's house.

Tax Cuts Clamor Growing

NEW YORK (AP)—Clamor for a U.S. income tax cut coupled in many quarters with a demand for reduced federal spending—grew louder last week.

Some economists and business men said lower taxes would be a springboard to quick economic advance; others argued that a cushion against possible recession and long-term help to business were the best that could be expected.

Apparently it won't be long before there is an answer to what President Kennedy plans. He will make what is described as a major economic address to the Economic Club of New York Dec. 14. It is considered likely that he will outline his tax plans.

The federal Reserve Bank of New York said tax revision is needed "not because the economy would otherwise slide into a recession but because such action seems to be required to help strengthen the incentives for longer-term economic growth."

A disappointing development was the rise in unemployment in November by 507,000 to 3,801,000, which raised the jobless percentage of the work force to 5.8 per cent from 5.5 per cent a year earlier. The biggest increase was among teen-agers, with this segment up 150,000 to a total of 750,000.

Another dark spot was in business spending on plant and equipment, which the government said would dip in the first quarter of next year from the present record level. It would be the first drop since the second quarter of 1961.

New construction in November fell about eight per cent from the October level to $5,300,000,000. The usual decline for this period is six per cent.

Announcements of two big expansion projects brightened the picture. Bethlehem Steel Co. said it would enter the midwest steel competition by building a $250,000,000 steel finishing plant near Chicago. And the Cadillac division of General Motors Corp. announced an expansion and modernization of its Detroit facilities at an unofficially estimated cost of $55,000,000.

The booming pace of the automobile industry was illustrated when General Motors' Chevrolet division delivered its 2,000,000th car of the year—the first time one make had achieved that total.

New car sales for the year passed the 6,000,000 mark during November with sales for the month totalling 651,124, a record for the month.

To meet the demand, production last week established another weekly high for the year of an estimated 179,000 passenger cars. Output of 687,390 in November was the highest for the month since record 1955.

Steel production increased and indications were that the usual December decline won't be as pronounced as usual and that January will be at least as good as December.

Output the week before was 1,876,000 tons up 1.7 per cent from the previous week.

'Spreading Control' Serious Danger

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Estes Kefauver says spreading control by big corporations over a variety of industries is "the single most serious danger to the preservation of competition and our free enterprise system."

The Tennessee Democrat, chairman of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, said figures prepared for the group by the census bureau indicated "the alarming extent to which the nation's largest corporations have extended their operations across industry lines."

WEEK ON MARKETS

Mixed Trend as Issues Zig Zag Back and Forth

By PETER DUNN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian stock markets moved in fits and starts last week, zig-zagging their way virtually nowhere.

Industrials came out of the week slightly on the downside. Daily trading volumes contracted with downward swings, increased as prices advanced.

Chartered banks, sparkplugs of the brisk November industrial advance, ran into profit-taking last week. Bank of Montreal was the favorite target; it dropped more than $3.

Utilities showed the only group strength, led by Power Corporation's $1 gain. Steels, refining oils and pipelines presented a mixed picture.

Alberta Gas, Trans-Mountain Pipeline and Montreal Locomotive all had gains of almost $1. Consolidated Paper weakened its group with a drop of more than $1.

Financial institutions were paced by Industrial Acceptance, which climbed almost $2 with news it has made a takeover bid to Sovereign Life Assurance Co. Directors of Sovereign said they would accept the $450-a-share offer and would recommend that shareholders do the same.

He said sales to Britain, last year's largest customer, also lagged because of the shortage of lower grade wheat. With more No. 4 and 5 northern wheat available for export this year, sales to both countries were expected to rise.

Mr. Robertson said Canadian export sales probably would be hurt by competition from France, where a bumper crop was harvested this season.

Takeover talk was again swirling among base metals, with the proposed Gunmar Mining - McNamara Corporation merger continuing as chief attention-getter. Gunmar officials reversed their earlier stand by agreeing to put the proposal before shareholders. The stock advanced 20 cents to $9.50.

International Nickel fell $2 and Consolidated Mining and Smelting almost $1, while Falconbridge gained about $1.50.

Among the oils, Canada Southern Petroleum gained speculation's fancy in mid-week. While the market awaited news of the company's drill results on property in northern British Columbia, the stock jumped to a 1962 peak of $5.35. It later weakened, however, closing at $5.05, ahead $5 cents.

Senior issues, shunted to the sidelines, gave uninspired performances. On index at Toronto, industrials fell 1.95 to 569.18, golds 1.35 to 85.40 and western oils 1.5 to 117.18. Base metals rose .09 to 187.60.

Total volume at Toronto was 11,869,593 shares compared with 12,967,609 the week before. Dollar value was $35,018,396 compared with $38,915,727.

Food Plant Closing Down In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. E. Ferrell, manager of Canadian Canners Limited, confirmed Saturday that the firm's food processing plant here will close. He said the move is being made to lower company overhead and production costs and in the interest of production efficiency.

Commenting on earlier reports that the firm would cease operations here, Mr. Ferrell said there will be a gradual transfer of processing to other locations—to Penticton in British Columbia and to plants outside the province.

All processing will be finished at the Vancouver

MONTE ROBERTS

Any minute now, it will be time to go all around and about, greeting pals, friends, acquaintances and complete strangers, and saying to them: Merry Christmas.

Or some other equally brilliant and original remark, indicative of the season of goodwill toward men, and even (possibly) peace on earth.

I am all in favor of this annual conversational gambit, and shall be happy to rush around, wishing Merry Christmas to one and all.

With a single exception.

This is a resident of our area whose activity has just been drawn to my attention, and has eliminated him from my list of recipients of the season's compliments.

The resident to whom I refer is male, married, does not beat his wife, and, to the best of my knowledge, is honest, upright, and true.

But he gets no "Merry Christmas" from me.

This man is a hobbyist-type woodworker, with a modest set of power tools.

He likes to doodle with these power tools, and during the course of the year, he scrounges bits of plywood ends before they are thrown on the scrap heap.

And he makes children's playthings from them, such as hobbyhorses and dolls' cribs and the like.

He has a wife who knows how to—as my grandmother used to say—"put things down," which she does with great efficiency, producing pickles and spice and all things nice.

His wife also bakes a delectable cake, knows the right side up on a cookie sheet, and the ingredients needed to stuff a turkey.

Once a year, this man and his wife combine their talents.

Through a "secret" source, they find the name and address of a family in need of a little Christmas cheer, but would never admit it.

And this man and his wife make up a Christmas parcel tailored to the needs of the family chosen from them.

Just prior to Christmas, the whole kit and kaboodle will be delivered to the unsuspecting recipients by an anonymous deliveryman, who will never, never reveal the names of the donors.

Nor will I.

But you can see why I refuse to wish this man a Merry Christmas. There's no need to.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Weekly film showing in the Music Room at the Victoria Public Library from 3 to 4 this Wednesday will feature the following films:

Kumak the Sleepy Hunter: Puppet figures act out an old legend about a sleepy hunter who gained a wife and a fortune, then lost them both through his wife's curiosity and his own inability to keep a secret.

Energetically Yours: A color cartoon which goes back into pre-historic to trace man's insatiable drive to find the easy way.

Scottish Highlands: A journey by bus into the Highlands of Scotland, showing places of scenic beauty and points of historic interest.

Old Age Pensioners' Association, Victoria No. 1 will meet Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Legion Hall, 1616 Blanshard Street.

Leslie Vagai, 21, of 1809 Crescent, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital with head injuries following an accident at View and Vancouver Saturday night.

Mr. Vagai was driving west on View when he was involved in a collision with another car driven north on Vancouver by James Robinson, 1319 Vlny, about 9:40 p.m.

Fay Vagai, 18, a passenger in the westbound car, also was taken to hospital but was not admitted.

Finishing touches are being made to the new $500,000 B.C. Telephone Co. division headquarters and plant centre at McKenzie and Quadra and occupancy is scheduled for mid-January.

Island division manager G. C. Campbell said the move to the new headquarters will relieve congestion at the Blanshard Street telephone building.

There are three buildings on the 4½-acre site—administration and engineering, plant offices and storage and a garage.

A long-dormant plan to turn an area behind stores in the 700 Block Yates Street, between Yates and View, into a covered pedestrian mall has been reactivated with the imminent opening of the View Street civic parking building.

A committee of the 700 Block Yates Association is drawing up preliminary plans for the project which would provide a completely covered area between parking building and stores, with the exception of the street crossing. The area would be refurbished by painting stores and with planters.

Canadian Red Cross Society will have its blood donor clinics open on Tuesday from 2:30 to 4:30 and 7 to 9:30 at the Red Cross House, 1046 Fort Street, on Wednesday from 9 a.m. to noon, and 1 to 4 p.m. at the Parliament Buildings; and on Thursday at the same time at HMC Dockyard.

James Scouler, no fixed address, who earlier last week admitted he stole two sweaters from a downtown store, was sentenced Saturday to eight months in Oakalla jail. Value of the sweaters was $31.90.

Royal Canadian Legion, Ex-Servicemen's Branch No. 182, will hold a bingo tonight at 7:45 in the Britannia Auditorium, 1616 Blanshard St.

Officers will be elected at the annual meeting of Esquimalt Golden Age Club, Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Jubilee Hall on Fraser Street. Tea will be served.

A car was stolen off the lot of Unity Used Cars, 854 Pandora, overnight Friday and 14 sets of keys to other models were taken from the office.

The thief broke into the office and ransacked it before finding the keys which were hidden. Nothing else was taken.

Accused Admits Pushing Man Out of Truck

Two men were remanded for one week when one of them pleaded guilty today to assault in connection with an incident that occurred a week ago Sunday at Goldstream.

The guilty plea was entered by Barry James Shepard, 3624 Crestview Road. He is alleged to have assaulted Gerhart F. Hansen of Sooke by pushing him out of a truck.

Kenneth S. Hodges, 291 Rosebank, is accused of stabbing Hansen. He was remanded for one week without plea.

The case is being heard by Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

Seven Scouts On V.I. Picked For Jamboree

Seven Boy Scouts from Vancouver Island are among 39 chosen to represent British Columbia at the World Jamboree in Greece during August, 1963.

Accompanied by Scout leader David J. Barker, 3932 Telegraph Bay Road, they will leave Vancouver July 23 to join 400 others at a camp in Ontario.

From there they will fly to Greece. The cost of the trip is paid by the boys.

Scouts going from the Island are David W. H. Allen, 1060 Craigflower Road; Leonard E. Duval, 1815 San Pedro Avenue, and Wayne K. D. Litster, 340 Stannard Avenue, all of Victoria.

Sean M. Hogan and J. Colin Tassin, both of Duncan; J. David Steenbergen, 535 Northumberland Avenue, Nanaimo, and Frederick J. Crowder, 634 Gertrude Street, Alberni.

MAN, MACHINE PLUNGE OVER EDGE OF RAMP

A city construction worker was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital today after driving off a scaffolding in a cement buggy.

Karl Potasinski, 42, of 220 Linden, was admitted with head, arm and shoulder injuries after falling 12 feet.

The accident occurred about 11 a.m. at the site of new office building on Fort Street near Cook.

City police said Mr. Potasinski was operating a cement buggy used for carrying and pouring wet concrete when his foot hit the accelerator instead of the brake as he neared the edge of the ramp.

He fell with his machine, which may have rolled on him.

WORKED WELL

"No matter what campaign the CCF leader—or NDP leader—makes against Bills 42 and 43, we won't repeal them," said Mr. Bennett.

"They are there for the interests of everybody and they have worked extremely well."

At the same time, the premier added, the government has no intention of introducing any new legislation in line with management requests, such as a right-to-work law.

The premier said Mr. Peterson was, as far as he is concerned, the best labor minister in Canada.

Labor and education had been put together for a purpose.

"BY DESIGN"

That purpose is an attempt to solve what the premier called "the great problem of our age"—the retraining of workers to meet automation.

"We did this by design to help solve this great problem," he said.

Mr. Bennett said he has given up any idea of a private meeting with Jack Moore, president of the International Woodworkers of America in B.C., to thresh out labor-management problems.

Mr. Moore, after initially accepting the invitation, turned him down unless he could bring other labor representatives.

Instead, Mr. Bennett said, the cabinet would meet a B.C. Federation of Labor delegation at 10 a.m. Dec. 19.

The premier said he could not understand what pressure had been brought on Mr. Moore to prevent their meeting.

But it evidently had come from labor leaders with "political affiliations."

Pressure Level Zooms As Students Bear Down

Beards and bleary eyes are the uniform of the day at Victoria College today as students enter their last day of preparation for Christmas examinations.

Starting Tuesday, exams are scheduled three times daily until Dec. 22, Saturdays included.

They are all two-hour examinations, following the pattern set last year, to allow the three-day schedule.

Precautions have been taken to prevent students from having to write more than two examinations per day.

Lectures, which ended Saturday, resume Jan. 7.

Victoria's oldest veteran of the South African War is probably John James Abbott—a lively 95 years of age today.

The eyes are bright and keen and the memory clear as he looks back over the years to the time when he joined the British Army Medical Corps in 1899 and sailed with an ambulance team to Cape Town.

"I was aboard the first ambulance train to Ladysmith," said Mr. Abbott, "and we remained there until after the relief of Mafeking."

At his home at 15 Cambridge, off the Dallas Road, Mr. Abbott produced old photos and news clippings which prove his versatility.

In his time he has been farmer, singer, cricketer, boxer and boot manufacturer—and he still engages in cooking and gardening, when the weather is "Victorian."

FARMING BEST

A farmer most of his life, he now owns 320 acres of fertile cropland near Grenfell, Saskatchewan.

Faded photos of a tall young man with black handlebar moustaches recall that Mr. Abbott was then a leading cricketer, batting and bowling for Higham Ferrers in many a battle with neighboring teams.

His bass-baritone was heard in local choirs and he took this talent with him to Saskatchewan.

"The first thing I did on arriving in Grenfell was to join a church choir," he said. "That's the way to get to know people in Canada, and soon after, I got a job on a farm."

HEATH BEGINS CRUCIAL TALKS

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—Edward Heath, Britain's chief European Common Market negotiator, today began a crucial three-day meeting with market ministers who were reported to have decided to stand firm on their attitude to British agriculture.

FINAL BULLETINS

Conservatives Lead in P.E.I.

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Early returns in today's Prince Edward Island election showed the Progressive Conservative government and Liberal opposition waging a close fight.

Standings one hour and 40 minutes after the polls closed were: elected—PC six, Liberals three; leading—PC 12, Liberals seven; to come two, total 30.

Judge Rejects Hoffa Mistrial Bid

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Judge William E. Miller over-ruled an "utterly groundless if not utterly fantastic" defence motion for a mistrial as a result of the air pistol attack last week on Teamster Union President James Hoffa.

Nanaimo Boosts Slayings Reward

NANAIMO (CP)—City council offered another $3,500 reward money Monday for the lover's lane slayer of Les Dixon and Dianne Phipps.

It brought the total reward for information leading to the killer's arrest and conviction to $5,800.

Sol Estes Faces Another 14 Charges

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Federal Judge R. Ewing Thomason today ordered Billie Sol Estes to stand trial on 14 counts of a 29-count fraud indictment March 11 in El Paso.

Thomason ordered a trial on 15 of the 29 counts in the indictment moved to Pecos, Tex., Estes' home town.

Suspect Caught After Bank Holdup

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—An armed holdup man made off with $3,427 from a sub-branch of the Royal Bank of Canada today, and a suspect was quickly captured and the money recovered after a foot chase along the shore of Lake Huron.

U.K. Troops Take Airstrip

(CP from Reuters-AP)

BRUNEI TOWN, Brunei—British troops recaptured the airstrip at rebel-held Seria today and advanced on the oil town where some 400 Europeans were reported held prisoner by the rebels.

Brig. J. B. A. Glennie, commander of the British force in the British-protected sultanate of Brunei, said the situation was "looking very much better now" although 400 Europeans were prisoners in Seria.

Glennie also said a crackdown on the homes of members of the outlawed rebel Razaat party has begun here. He said several arrests have been made.

"We have taken a good deal of incriminating evidence," Glennie said.

The Anduki airfield at Seria was in rebel hands for three days until it was recaptured by 200 British Queen's Own Highlanders who landed on a nearby golf course.

Later a further 600 Highlanders landed on air strip, which was reported firmly in the hands of British security forces.

Meanwhile in Sarawak, another Borneo territory, which adjoins Brunei, tough Gurkha troops and police were braced at Miri for an expected attack by 400 rebels. Latest reports

GUERRILLA CAMPAIGN PLANNED

MANILA (AP)—Sheik A. M. Azahari said Sunday his Borneo rebels will retreat into the jungles and wage guerrilla warfare in the event British troops force them out of the towns.

The fight will go on for 20 years if necessary, the Indonesian-educated lawyer told reporters in this capital of the Philippines.

"Borneo will never be peaceful until our government is recognized by Britain," Azahari said.

said the rebels were within 20 miles of Miri, and Gurkhas have deployed to intercept them.

Black Box Inspection 'Inadequate' to West

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union offered today to install three "internationally" operated robot devices on Soviet territory to police a ban on underground nuclear tests.

Western spokesman said the offer of three "black boxes" was totally inadequate.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference the Soviet Union would permit international inspectors to service the devices and remove the automatically-recorded tapes of earth tremors.

The Soviet offer was first put forward—apparently by mistake—in a press conference given Friday by Soviet spokesman Alexei Roshchin. Roshchin told reporters Tsarapkin had made the offer and then denied it. All spokesmen agreed that the Soviet delegate finally made the firm offer at today's two-hour conference session.

The Western powers maintain the black boxes can serve only as an auxiliary detection method and can never fully replace manned control posts and on-site inspections.

Western officials said Tsarapkin's offer of one monitor in each of the Soviet Union's three main earthquake regions was completely inadequate even as an auxiliary system. The West believes at least 100 would be necessary inside the Soviet Union.

16 Miners' Bodies Found Close to Area of Blast

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP)

—Rescue teams investigating an explosion-rocked coal mine tunnel where 37 miners were trapped located today an increasingly higher number of bodies.

The ninth body of the day was sighted before noon, bringing to 16 the number of miners accounted for and leaving 21 still missing.

The bodies were sighted in an area 810 feet in advance of a fresh air base located 1,758 feet from where a tremendous blast occurred Thursday afternoon at U.S. Steel Corporation's Robena No. 3 mine.

Previously, the highest number of bodies located at one time was two. This indicated, officials said, that rescuers were penetrating into an area where most of the trapped miners were working some 650 feet underground at the face of the mine.

'DISRUPTED'

A U.S. Steel spokesman said the mine's ventilation system in the area where the latest bodies were sighted is "completely disrupted."

He added that repairs to the ventilating system will take considerable time, and it will be a while "before it is possible to recover the bodies."

Rescue workers recovered six bodies Sunday and one Saturday from the soft coal mine located some 50 miles south-west of Pittsburgh.

UN GIVES ULTIMATUM TO KATANGA LEADER

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—The United Nations demanded today that Katanga permit UN troops free movement within the secessionist province and lift the Katangese blockade of UN supply trains from Southern Rhodesia.

Some quarters said the demand, made in a letter to Katanga President Moise Tshombe, was a virtual ultimatum, threatening sanctions against the wealthy province by UN members if Tshombe failed to comply.

A BORE, SAYS U.K. PAPER

Dief Annoys Mac By 'Horning In'

LONDON (CP)—The Sunday newspaper The People carries a report saying Prime Minister Macmillan is "irritated" by Canadian Prime Minister Diefenbaker's move in "inviting himself" to the British leader's Bahamas conference with U.S. President Kennedy later this month.

An anonymous column written under the name Cyclops says Macmillan "seldom shows petulance" but his "distaste for bores explains his little outburst of irritation last week."

"He made little attempt to conceal his annoyance over the manner in which Mr. Diefenbaker contrived to get a place in the coming Bahamas talks," The report says, "although it is customary for Canadian prime ministers to get a hearing when British prime ministers talk to American presidents."

"Enquiries among the prime minister's entourage confirmed that this omission was no mere oversight."

"Mr. Macmillan bears no ill-will towards Mr. Diefenbaker for his anti-Common Market speech at the Commonwealth conference in September. But Mr. Diefenbaker's conversation does weary Mr. Macmillan."

Although the official announcement says it is traditional for Canadian prime ministers to be invited, the report concludes, "it did not point out that Mr. Diefenbaker had been left to invite himself."

Th' Chinese are goin' t' end up havin' their 450 million Indian neighbors fully armed.

With th' city elections comin' up this week, the civic square is just aroun' th' corner.

Mister Macmillan will see Mister Diefenbaker in th' Bahamas, but w'd prob'ly like t' see him farther.

Nehru Rejects Chinese Terms

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today Red China's cease-fire and withdrawal manoeuvre may be only a trick and warned his front-line troops that fighting might flare up again in the Himalayas.

RETROACTIVE

Federal Pay Hike Approved

OTTAWA (CP)—Retroactive pay increases for some 63,000 federal civil servants were announced today by Finance Minister Nowlan.

The increases, expected to cost the public treasury $30,000,000, affect clerical, administrative, accounting, professional supporting groups, hospital, penitentiary and police employees.

They will be retroactive to Oct. 1, 1961, for clerical and administrative employees. Raises had been recommended at that time by the government's pay research bureau but were delayed under the government's wage freezes.

Raises for hospital employees will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1962, and for penitentiary and police employees to April 1, 1962.

COLLECT DATA

Mr. Nowlan said the pay research bureau has started collecting data relating to salaries in the group of public servants comprising postal, customs and immigration employees. Changes recommended for them would be effective Oct. 1, 1962.

The raises announced today would be put into effect "as soon as the paying authorities can make the necessary arrangements."

In addition to the regular civil servants in the three groups for which retroactive increases were announced, Mr. Nowlan said in a Commons statement, employees paid at hourly wage rates prevailing in their areas of work will get wage adjustments effective from the dates recommended by the labor department in each case.

The Indian leader delivered his warning in a radio address after rejecting Peking's terms for settlement of the border conflict.

Nehru offered in parliament to refer the frontier dispute to the International Court of Justice if China withdraws from Indian territory.

Later he made his radio address to Indian soldiers telling them to be prepared for a long struggle.

Nehru told Parliament India continues to demand that the Chinese withdraw to the positions held Sept. 8. China has called this "utterly unacceptable."

Nehru warned "this war may last five years or more but I feel confident we shall win."

He called on the Indian people for "determination to refuse to bow down to the imperialist tactics of China whatever happens." He said the survival of Indian freedom is at stake.

Nehru also had words for the six non-aligned nations meeting in Ceylon in a search of a solution to the India-China conflict.

"I trust they will remember there can be no compromise with expanding militarism," he said.

RENEW FIGHTING?

Nehru's rejection of the Chinese demands raised a strong possibility of renewed fighting. Nehru was cheered when he said India "has been forced to the conclusion the words of the Chinese government cannot be relied upon."

The prime minister said the last five years have shown that the Chinese change their interpretation of the border with circumstances.

In Colombo, meanwhile, Ghana proposed to the six-nation conference that India and Red China negotiate an "area of disengagement" for cease-fire purposes and then work out a border settlement. The Ghana delegate said if the two countries could not agree, the six non-aligned countries should arrange the disengagement and then make recommendations for a border settlement.

First Class For Douks —Bennett

The B.C. government will give Sons of Freedom Doukhobor leaders a first-class expenses-paid trip to Ottawa in an effort to solve their problems, Premier Bennett promised today.

He said they could stay at the Chateau Laurier—Ottawa's swankiest hotel—and would get first-class plane or rail tickets.

He said his office was trying to contact Freedomite leaders now camped at Hope to find out who wants to go east and when.

FAIR AND JUST

This is an answer to a telegram signed by two Freedomites Sunday taking the premier up on an offer he made to the 49 who came to Victoria and stayed overnight on the steps of the legislative buildings.

The telegram was signed by Harry Gevatkoff and Fred Sherbinin. It said the Freedomites were prepared to send a delegation east to seek formation of a special committee to study Doukhobor problems and seek "a fair and just solution."

USC STRETCHES DOLLARS IN ANCIENT HEADQUARTERS

78 Sparks Street in Ottawa is a place that is easily overlooked.

It is sandwiched between a shoe store and a men's shop. The offices in the building are at the top of a double flight of steep stone stairs.

The ancient structure is pervaded by smells from a nearby restaurant.

But this is the address from which several millions of dollars worth of help have been sent out to all parts of the world since 1945.

This is the head office of the Unitarian Service Committee, the organization which The Times helps support with its "Friendship Dollars for India" appeal.

The USC offices are poky and old fashioned. They are overcrowded. Most of the equipment is on loan and all of it is second-hand. Most of the workers are volunteers.

The shoe-string operation in these two dusty rooms explains why almost every cent of the money donated to The Times appeal actually goes to India and is not used for administrative expenses.

So far this year, the people of Vancouver Island have donated $5,123 to the appeal.

But even though the USC can stretch this sum to do an incredible amount of relief work in India, a lot more is still required.

Anyone who wants to help should send their donation to "Friendship Dollars for India," c/o The Times, 2631 Douglas. Subscriptions to the appeal also may be left at the Bank of Montreal, Yates and Douglas.

All amounts will be acknowledged in the news columns of The Times. An official receipt for income-tax purposes will be sent later by the USC.
